OTTAWA GRANTS COURT TEST OF VETO

New Bishop Given Ovation At Dinner Thursday Evening

Most Rev. Charles Leo Nelligan Delivers Valedictory Address

People who refuse to obey the call to public service when it comes to them, are traitors to the welfare of their fellow-citizens, Bishop Charles Leo Nelligan, of Pembroke, Ont., said at a banquet in his honor Thursday night at the Macdonald hotel.

The newly consecrated bishop delivered what he termed his "farewell message" in a speech that reviewed his associations with St. Joseph's parish and citizens of Edmonton.

WARM WELCOME

Greeted by an ovation that thundered through the hall for several minutes, Bishop Nelligan was visibly moved by the warmth of the welcome.

He said that never in his life did he find it so easy to speak, since never before had he received such inspiration from a friendly audience. He was particularly grateful, he added, to all those "Not of my religious convictions" who had been his friends and helped him in his work.

Premier William Aberhart and Mayor Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., brought the official felicitations of province and city to the new bishop as they commended him for his qualities as a religious leader and valued citizen.

LIEUT. GOVERNOR PRESENT

Hon. J. C. Bowen, lieutenant governor of Alberta, and Mrs. Bowen, also were guests at the banquet, which was presided over by Henry J. Roche.

If citizens stand aside in the hour of public need, the tasks of government in Canada will fall to men of little knowledge or no character,

ROYAL ULSTER GUNNERS PROVE JAPAN TARGETS

Three Are Killed, Others Wounded During Shelling Chinese Location

SHANGHAI, Oct. 29—Three Royal Ulster riflemen were killed and several wounded tonight during Japanese shelling of Hungjao, suburb to the west of the international settlement and home of many foreigners, British military headquarters announced.

Artillery shelling and aerial attack in the Chinese-Japanese war spread damage among mission and other foreign property, and during the day British defence lines along the settlement frequently had been under fire.

One unidentified foreigner and several Chinese also were reported killed by Japanese shells falling inside the British lines.

The Seventh Day Adventist sanitarium evacuated its patients and equipment after several bullets struck the hospital when a Japanese flier shot at a group of Chinese soldiers and refugees at the hospital gates.

Parents Of Boy Killed In Chinese War Ask Reward

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—Parents of Lionel Haskell, 21-year-old Toronto boy killed while serving in Shanghai on the United States steamer President Hoover, which was bombed by Chinese airmen, have asked the department of external affairs to seek indemnity from the Chinese government, it was learned here today.

Chinese authorities apologized to the United States government for the bombing which was described as accidental. It occurred early in the present Sino-Japanese conflict and brought injuries to several sailors.

69th Anniversary Feted By Pair

KENTVILLE, N.S., Oct. 29—Mr. and Mrs. William Yould celebrated their 69th wedding anniversary here today, with their daily walk through down-town Kentville. Mr. Yould, 90 has been Mayor of Kentville four times. Mrs. Yould is 87.

Grain Export Banned

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 29.—The Argentine government today forbade exportation of wheat and wheat flour until further notice, when consignments of new wheat arrive on local markets.

Bishop Leaves Church After Consecration

Escorted through the church after his consecration as Bishop of Pembroke, Bishop Charles Leo Nelligan is seen standing outside St. Joseph's cathedral, flanked by Most Rev. J. H. MacDonald, coadjutor archbishop of Edmonton, and Most Rev. J. C. McGuigan, archbishop of Toronto, who assisted Most Rev. H. J. O'Leary, archbishop of Edmonton, in the consecration ceremony. Also in the picture are church leaders who engaged in the service. This exclusive photo taken by Phil Danis, Bulletin staff photographer by gracious permission of the new bishop, shows Bishop Nelligan seconds after he bestowed his blessing on the congregation, his first act as Bishop of Pembroke. As he stood outside the cathedral, he was flanked by a special Knights of Columbus guard.

Italy's Dictator Is Charged In Stirring Uprising Of Arabs

British Diplomats Visibly Show Strain, But Behind Scenes Government Reveals Feeling of Anxiety

By GRANT DEXTER

London Bureau of The Edmonton Bulletin and Winnipeg Free Press.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—While British diplomatists, although visibly showing signs of the severe strains of the past few weeks, have succeeded to date in maintaining the first essential of the British government's foreign policy—to maintain the surface claim of peace regardless of sub-surface disturbances and prevent Britain becoming involved in prevailing wars—indications are not lacking that new troubles are piling up.

Behind the scenes it is apparent that a feeling of anxiety in government circles has been growing apace in the past six weeks. Fleet street is full of rumors regarding fresh outbreaks of war, some of them of impending wide world conflagration.

Today's issue of "The Week" gives circumstantial details of an impending uprising of Arabs against British control of Palestine and the contiguous areas. This rising, it is said, is being fomented by Mussolini and will be supported along the lines of the Spanish war by Italian war equipment.

MASSING TROOPS

The massing of Italian troops and war material in Libya is also causing concern for the Sudan and Egypt and altogether the situation is far from reassuring.

The Non-Intervention Committee, which cartoonist Low now depicts as the "Mediterranean run-around" has obtained a new lease of life, and whether or not this was obtained upon Mussolini's terms does not

ALBION, N.Y., Oct. 29.—John Coveney, 18, and Orrin Prest, 17, were out riding when their car crashed through a railing and came to rest dangling over Laverne Starkweather's junk pile and auto graveyard.

The two jumped to safety and made a deal with Starkweather.

Halifax Flooded In Electric Storm

HALIFAX, Oct. 29—A downpour of rain accompanying an electrical storm which swept over Halifax last night flooded cellars, backed up sewers and stalled automobiles on the streets. The Citadel Hill observatory reading said 1.57 inches of rain fell in the two-hour period.

PIONEER CITY STORE PLANS ANNUAL SALE

Utilizing additional newspaper advertising space instead of expending portion of the appropriation on the hiring of the Edmonton street car system for free rides for citizens on the occasion of their 51st anniversary, Johnstone Walker Limited, pioneer departmental store, today announced that savings effected by the new departure would be passed on to the thousands of satisfied Johnstone Walker customers in Edmonton and the surrounding district.

"Johnstone Walker's regrets they are unable to make satisfactory arrangements this year with the Street Railway, whereby free transportation would be given for one hour, during their 51st Anniversary Sale, Oct. 30-Nov. 6.

To compensate for this long established custom, greater values are being offered throughout the store. One disappointing factor with many shoppers was that an hour was really too short a period in which to do their shopping, and another was the fact that waiting until the 9.30 hour often caused many to miss the 9 o'clock sales," said Fred V. Hollands in making the announcement today.

Australia Socreds Poll 70,000 Votes

SYDNEY, Oct. 29—Returns today showed that the 16 Social Credit candidates in Australia's general election polled 70,000 votes out of a total of 3,800,000. Only 40,000 more ballots have yet to be counted, and it appeared certain that one Social Credit candidate, G. H. A. Nichols, had been elected to the house of representatives from Queensland.

Lloyd George Is Scornful of Britain's Policy

Non-Intervention Committee—Il Duce Accused of Fighting "Yellows" Not "Reds"

LONDON, Oct. 29. — Wartime Prime Minister David Lloyd George and retired Admiral Sir Roger Keyes fought a mythical naval battle of the fortress of Gibraltar yesterday as they clashed in the House of Commons.

Lloyd George asserted "German guns" now dominate the straits and the admiral answered: "Nothing can stop the British navy," adding: "Neither Italy nor Germany" was in a position to close the straits.

SMOKE SCREENS

Sir Roger said "smoke screens" could mask any guns that threatened Gibraltar and allow British shipping through the straits.

"That satisfied me," Mr. Lloyd George snapped back. "I ask the supporters of the government if that is their idea of our position in a great war—dependent on smoke screens."

In a fighting speech the wartime prime minister of Britain told the commons that non-intervention in Spain was "a boasted failure" and the "greatest, basest fraud and deception ever perpetrated by great nations on a weak people."

He said non-intervention operated to favor the insurgents and said the sea routes of France and Britain in the Mediterranean "are practically in the hands of Mussolini and Germany."

Mr. Lloyd George was compelled to leave the house after his speech due to a cold. Later in the session Walter Elliott, secretary for Scotland, described him as "the nearest thing to a dictator we have produced in this country since the days of Oliver Cromwell."

HELD BY IL DUCE

Mr. Lloyd George called Spain "one of the most dangerous basions" for the British or French empires.

He asserted Mussolini wanted "peace in Europe—until he and his fellow dictator are ready," and

MILK INQUIRY REPORT TO BE FILED SHORTLY

Will Likely Be Presented Next Week, Rice Sheppard Declares

Report of the special committee, appointed by Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture, to investigate the whole subject of milk control and regulation in this province by the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, probably will be filed with the government next week, according to Rice Sheppard, chairman of the committee.

The committee sat for several weeks here and also held sittings in both Calgary and Lethbridge. At the conclusion of the hearings, the report was commenced and it is now nearing completion.

In addition to Mr. Sheppard, the committee includes William King, M.L.A. for Cochrane; William Masson, M.L.A. for Wainwright; David Lush, M.L.A. for Empress and Walter L. White of Edmonton.

All members of the committee save Mr. Masson were in this city on Friday working on the report.

BEVERLY NOT ABLE PAY FOR SICK PERSONS

Fream Told Council to Refuse Permits For Hospitalization

Instructions were issued in 1932 by E. J. Fream, board of utility commissioner, to the Beverly council to refrain from issuing permits to indigent persons needing hospitalization, was the evidence given by F. Wagner, deposed mayor of the town, before the Royal Commission inquiring into the present financial affairs of Beverly.

He told the commission that Mr. Fream had stated that "Beverly could not meet these expenses out of its resources, and that the hospitals would send their accounts to the provincial government by which body they would ultimately be paid."

CALL AS WITNESS

Commissioner Mr. Justice A. A. McGillivray asked if Mr. Fream was available as a witness. S. H. McCuaig, K.C., commission counsel, stated he would be called.

DISALLOWANCE CASE UP EARLY IN NEW YEAR

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 — Early in the new year appears the most likely time for hearing by the Supreme Court of Canada of argument on the right of the Dominion government to disallow provincial legislation.

A reference on the question was directed by the federal government yesterday, following protests from Alberta at the Dominion's action in disallowing Alberta bills relating to banking and procedure in the courts.

Neither government nor Supreme Court officials today would hazard a guess as to when the reference would be heard. As it is an important constitutional question and every government in Canada is involved, however, it is expected the opposing counsel will require some time for research, study and the preparation of briefs.

NEWSPAPERS MAY BE FORCED TO RAISE RATES

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Prediction that many newspapers may be forced to raise their circulation rates because of rising newsprint and other production costs, came today from W. G. Chandler, chairman of the newsprint committee of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Newspapers in more than 50 cities of the United States have been forced to raise their rates recently because of increased costs, he said.

Publishers are paying more for metal, fuel, services, newsprint, wages and all the numerous requisites to producing a newspaper.

The largest item of cost, next to payrolls, is newsprint paper, Chandler explained. In Canada, he said, another general advance in newsprint prices to publishers will shortly go into effect, making the situation there acute if circulation rates were not advanced in proportion.

ALBERTA WILL ARGUE CASE OF DISALLOWANCE

Submissions to be Made to Supreme Court Premier Aberhart Says

Decision by the Dominion government to refer its power of disallowance of provincial legislation, to the supreme court of Canada, is highly acceptable to Alberta and submissions will be made by the province.

Premier William Aberhart on Friday declined to comment as to the nature of the submissions or the detail surrounding same.

But, that Alberta will be represented goes without saying, as it was this province that suggested the reference. At the recent special session, while a long constitutional debate was in progress, Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs announced that the province would open negotiations with a view to having the question of the Dominion's right to disallow, referred to the supreme court. This was followed up with a letter from Premier William Aberhart after prorogation of the special session.

It is thought that before any specific reference is made, that the province will seek further information from the Dominion as to detail of the reference, which might also include powers of the lieutenant governor in reserving assent and other ramifications of the general question of disallowance.

China Can Hold Out Five Years Says Gen. Chiang

NANKING, Oct. 29.—Four Chinese cabinet members—including Premier Chiang Kai-Shek—declared today: "China can hold out against Japan for five years if necessary."

Unperturbed by Chinese evacuation of Chapei, which they termed merely a local affair, the government leaders said the Chinese army hardly had begun to fight.

"We will show the world our real fighting qualities when our major struggle occurs along the shores of the Yellow river, which we hope to convert from China's sorrow into China's joy," Chiang said.

Japanese Calling Reservists And Medics For Duty

TOKYO, Oct. 29.—An Imperial decree today revised the Japanese conscription law to call to the colors all men on the reserve list without the usual drawing of lots.

The decree also ordered immediate registration for military duty of all physicians, surgeons and pharmacists.

Replying to questions from correspondents today, the foreign office spokesman said the question of establishing a neutral area in Shanghai might follow expulsion of all Chinese troops from the Shanghai zone.

Sydney Flames To Cost City $200,000

SYDNEY, N.S., Oct. 29.—Loss estimated at close to $200,000 was counted today after a spectacular blaze which destroyed one building on Sydney's main business street, partially razed another and caused damage to a third shortly after midnight.

Cause of the blaze, believed to have started in the Mason building, was unknown.

Bank And Press Verdict Will Be Given Out Tuesday

Judgment on Propriety of Disallowance of Four Acts May be Known Within Two Weeks Report Says

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—While the Dominion government's' decision with respect to Alberta's banking and newspaper legislation remains in abeyance until next Tuesday, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last night question of the federal government's power to disallow provincial legislation had been referred to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Following a long cabinet council today the Prime Minister said no announcement would be made on the three banking and newspaper acts which still await assent, but that in compliance with a suggestion from Premier Aberhart of Alberta, the power of the federal government to disallow would be tested. He said decision on the three acts would be announced following Tuesday's cabinet council.

The Supreme Court of Canada will be asked to answer these questions:

1—Is the power of disallowance of provincial legislation, vested in the governor general in council by section 90 of the British North America Act, 1867, still a subsisting power?

2—If the answer to question 1 be in the affirmative, is the exercise of the said power of disallowance by the governor general in council subject to any limitations or restrictions and, if so, what are the nature and effect of such limitations or restrictions?

This reference to the supreme court follows upon representations of Premier Aberhart of Alberta, challenging the right of the government to disallow certain banking and judicature acts which were passed at a special session of the provincial legislature in August, and nullified by the federal government.

NEWSPAPER CONTROL

In the meantime the Alberta legislature, in a second special session which prorogued Oct. 5, passed three acts, one increasing the tax on chartered banks, one providing for licensing of credit institutions and establishment of local directorates to direct policy of business and dealing in credit, and a third providing a measure of control over newspapers.

These three measures were not assented to by Lieutenant Governor Bowen who reserved action

DR. F. W. CRANG TO SEEK SEAT SCHOOL BOARD

Veteran member of the Edmonton Public School board, having served the city for 25 years, Dr. Frank W. Crang announced Friday he would seek re-election to the board as an Independent candidate in the forthcoming municipal elections.

"As a representative of Labor, I still intend to support Labor principles, although I am running as an Independent," Dr. Crang said.

He will contest one of the five vacancies on the board.

GERMANY WILL NOT PARTICIPATE 9-WAY PARLEY

BERLIN, Oct. 29 — Germany formally notified Belgium today she would not participate in the nine-power pact conference starting next Wednesday at Brussels.

The formal reason given was that Germany was neither a signatory nor an adherent of the treaty guaranteeing China's territorial integrity.

The German reply expressed "full appreciation of the endeavor to bring a speedy end to the lamentable conflict in East Asia by application of friendly means."

It added, however, that the Brussels conference was based on article VII of the nine-power treaty and, "as Germany is not a party to the agreement, it sees itself unable to participate in deliberations over application of the agreement."

4 Workmen Hurt In Street Car Jam

CALGARY, Oct. 29.—Four workmen of the C. P. R. Ogden shops were injured when two street cars crashed in a Ninth avenue subway here today. The men were trapped in the rear vestibule of a car. The injured: F. Skinner, 20, both legs broken; H. Bellingham, 53, broken leg, bruises and shock; H. A. Colo, 66, broken leg; W. Akerclose, 52, broken leg.

REVISION OF FORTIN PLAN CRANG'S AIM

Independent Aldermanic Candidate Will Demand Reconsideration

Pledging that if re-elected to city council she would support the proposed reconsideration of the Fortin plan, the 40-hour five-day week and payment of the 1929 basic wage scale to civic employees, Ald. Margaret Crang announced Friday she would contest the November 10 municipal elections as an Independent candidate.

"I am entering the campaign as an Independent and on the record of my four years on council," Ald. Crang declared. "One of the issues which has brought me back into the civic election battle is the Fortin plan which extends $26,000,000 of Edmonton's $32,000,000 bonded indebtedness over the next 30 years—with no cut in interest rates.

DEMANDS RECONSIDERATION

"I am demanding that the new council reconsider the Fortin plan with a view to obtaining a better debt deal for the city. It is not too late yet to review this question with bondholders in an effort to get a reduction in the rate of interest on our huge debt. The Fortin plan has not yet been ratified and there is still time to save the taxpayers from exorbitant interest.

"If returned to council I will request that wages of civic employees be returned to the 1929 scale. Civic business is improving and it is only right that the city's servants should

Harmsworth Deplores Calling Hepburn "Mitch"

By GRANT DEXTER

London Bureau of The Edmonton Bulletin and Winnipeg Free Press

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Describing him as the "Lloyd George of Canada" and as a public man who has the biggest chance of being "the man of the future for Canada and perhaps for the British empire," Lord Harmsworth's Daily Mail this morning published a sketch of Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario.

The sketch deprecated the use of the word "Mitch" in referring to the Ontario premier as being too undignified and no longer fitting his "political stature."

Lloyd George Lashes Government On Spanish Policy

GERMAN GUNS ARE MENACE AT GIBRALTAR

Wartime Premier and Retired Naval Hero Stage Mythical Battle

affirmed Mussolini "makes a great pretence he is fighting the Reds . . . Mussolini's not fighting the Reds," he said with scathing scorn, "he's fighting the Yellows, but above all he wants domination in the Mediterranean and North Africa and reconstruction of an Empire."

Non-intervention and the 27-nation non-intervention committee were condemned by the white-haired Welsh statesman.

Non-intervention was "a boasted failure" and the "greatest, basest fraud and deception ever perpetrated by great nations on a weak people." It operated to favor the insurgents, he said. If all volunteers in Spain were withdrawn tomorrow, non-intervention which had prevented aid from reaching the Spanish government would have accorded superiority to the insurgents which might make the difference between victory and defeat, Lloyd George said.

BATTLE COMING

He predicted a decisive battle was probably approaching in Spain and said it "may decide the fate of Spain; it may decide the fate of Europe; it may decide the issue whether Europe is going to be controlled by democracy or dictatorships."

"If Democracy is beaten in this battle," he said, "or if Fascism is triumphant in this battle, His Majesty's government can claim that victory for themselves.

"If the objects of non-intervention were to place Great Britain and France at a great disadvantage in any future war that may take place, the committee has been a triumph."

"And we are going to prolong the life of the committee that makes this possible," he shouted as he declared submarine bases, airdromes and heavy guns of the Fascist powers threatened Empire and French shipping in the Mediterranean.

Mussolini's ambitions went beyond a desire to assure an insurgent victory in Spain, Lloyd George said.

TROOPS TO LIBYA

"You have got to consider what he is doing in pouring his troops into Libya, in conquering Abyssinia, in interfering in Palestine, in fortifying a portion of the Red Sea and in building air and submarine bases in the Balearic Islands and another in The Canaries," he added.

"There are German guns at Gibraltar. Is he doing that merely to achieve a victory for General Franco?"

Italy, not Germany, constitutes the real danger, for the Reich is not yet adequately equipped with trained reserves to undertake action, Lloyd George continued.

There has been too much talk of volunteers and not enough of foreign-supplied munitions, which have been the real secret of the insurgents' successes, Lloyd George declared.

NO REGARD FOR WORD

The non-intervention policy, he said, had been dishonored by nations which have no regard for their own given word and has cast discredit on the powers which have permitted the others to flout it.

He complained that in the Far East as well as in Europe, Britain's strategic position no longer is what it has been in the past.

Viscount Cranborne, foreign under-secretary, who acted as government spokesman, said the League of Nations is, and remains, the foundation-stone of British foreign policy.

Replying to a question regarding the present status of the British merchant ships Seven Seas Spray and Dover Abbey, captured by the insurgents, Lord Cranborne said:

"His Majesty's government have made representation to Salamanca (insurgent) authorities regarding the seizure and detention of these two vessels, and an undertaking has been obtained that they will be released. I hope to be in a position to make a further statement on the subject shortly.

"The owners of the Seven Seas Spray have not, I understand, made any request for compensation, but any such claim, if made, would naturally receive the most careful consideration."

MODIFY LAW

William Craven-Ellis (Conservative) called for modification of the law regulating registration of foreign vessels under the British flag, stating purpose of such registration was frequently to obtain protection from the British navy.

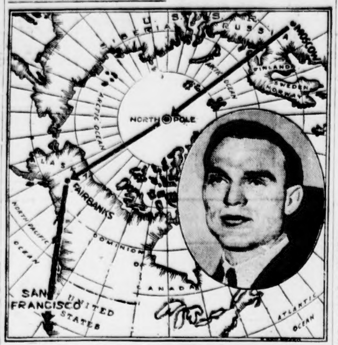
He advocated measures forbidding all except ships owned by 100 per cent British companies and operated by at least 90 per cent British crews to display the Union Jack.

Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, rejected the suggestion with the explanation any modification of existing laws would mean a fundamental change in British trade policy and could in practice be easily circumvented.

Dr. C. W. Gordon, Ill, Has Better Night

WINNIPEG, Oct. 29.—Though Dr. C. W. Gordon, Canadian novelist and churchman, had a "fairly restful" night, his condition continues "unchanged", his nephew, Dr. Athol Gordon, attending physician, said today. Dr. Gordon, known in the literary world as Ralph Connor, is seriously ill in hospital here.

Not Forgotten



Belief that the missing Russian fliers who are supposed to be down somewhere in the Arctic are still alive is held by Moscow authorities, who have authorized a fresh search for Comrade Levaneffsky and others who disappeared on their flight to the United States. Sir Hubert Wilkins will head an immediate exploration party in their behalf.

MOSCOW EQUIPS 4 BIG PLANES FOR NEW SEARCH

MOSCOW, Oct. 29—Four large planes equipped for flying in the polar night were entrusted today with the Arctic search for Sigismund Levaneffsky, missing transpolar flier, and his five companions.

Ivan Chukhnovsky, experienced Soviet aviator, will be in charge of the new expedition, which will relieve that headed by Pilot Sheveleff, who has been searching since Sept. 10.

Four planes commanded by Sheveleff have been recalled, but he will remain at Rudolf Island to co-operate with Chukhnovsky's expedition.

Chukhnovsky's planes had been tested and were believed fit for hard winter flying.

It was estimated Levaneffsky and his companions had enough food to last until well after Nov. 15.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HUMOR AT FETE FOR NEW BISHOP

Most Reverend J. C. McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto, loves to tell stories and he told some at the banquet at the Macdonald hotel Thursday night in honor of Bishop Nelligan that had the whole diocese chuckling.

Here are some of his quips:

"The first time in my life I ever had a chance to lay my hands on Bishop Nelligan was today." (Archbishop McGuigan was the assistant consecrating prelate at the consecration service).

"I am afraid Bishop Nelligan is coming to Ontario to take away my job. He has always stepped into every other position I ever had."

Bishop Nelligan in reply: "If I have any designs on the episcopate of Toronto, my last act as the bishop of Pembroke will be to appoint Archbishop McGuigan chaplain of the Dionne quintuplets."

bother British statesmanship as long as their object in keeping Britain out of the prevailing wars is achieved.

Likewise the fate of the Nine Power Conference seems increasingly to be assured as a future of complete futility, but here also the situation is regarded without dismay as long as the object of keeping out of war is attained.

The Conservative press is discerning silver linings in all the clouds which overhang the government's diplomatic activities, while the Left Wing press seems to be enjoying greatly the opportunity to point out every inconsistency of the government policy and to unmask the frauds.

PROGRESS ACHIEVED

Non-intervention progress, it is said, is being achieved by agreeing to the appointment of commissions whose welcome by either side in Spain is uncertain. Mussolini has not promised to either abstain from further reinforcements to Franco during the progress of the commission inquiries, nor to accept the commission's reports as the basis of the withdrawal of his troops.

Meantime by maintaining the embargo against arms shipments to the Spanish government, the Anglo-French governments are ignoring their most solemn treaty obligations.

In the Far East the Japanese note declining an invitation to the Brussels conference is held by the government press not to close the door against mediation by the peace-seeking powers, although the opposition press points out that the unequivocal statement of this note, is that any settlement must be negotiated direct between Nanking and Tokyo and must be on the Japanese terms outlined in the note.

NO HESITATION

In many quarters there is no hesitation in declaring that Japan, Germany and Italy are acting in concert and will keep exerting pressure until their own ends are attained, or until they are stopped by the action of peace-loving democratic powers.

The situation is said to be near the breaking point, and certainly recent developments in Libya and Palestine have the British government worried, while the Sino-Jap developments have not added to their peace of mind either.

PIONEER FIRM GIVES SERVICE FOR 51 YEARS

The Bulletin Congratulates Johnstone Walker Ltd. On Anniversary

Pioneers in the field of public service for more than 50 years, Johnstone Walker Limited, and the Edmonton Bulletin are linked today in a bond of firm friendship born in the '80's when both started a record of business achievement which has been their proud boast for more than two generations.

On Saturday, October 30, Johnstone Walker Ltd., which wrote its first page of mercantile history in 1886 when the west was still young, opens its doors to the public for its 51st seven-day anniversary sale, and today The Bulletin, whose voice was first heard along the western frontier in 1880, extends its congratulations to a firm serving Edmonton from the time the town could be numbered in hundreds till the present as it takes its place as the largest city in Alberta, second largest between Toronto and Vancouver and claiming a population of nearly 90,000.

PERSONAL SERVICE

The quality of the Johnstone Walker merchandise has never been questioned; its record of personalized service remains the same as it was 51 years ago. Keeping in step with the growth of Alberta's capital city, this pioneer departmental store has extended its facilities to meet the shopping public's exacting requirements.

Johnstone Walker's fifty-first anniversary sale will be held from Saturday, Oct. 30, to Saturday, Nov. 7, inclusive—seven days of bargains for every member of the family. Preparations have been made for the presentation of high-grade merchandise to both city and country shoppers.

WARM INVITATION

Manager Cecil S. Sutherland is extending a warm invitation to shoppers to visit Johnstone Walker Limited whenever they are on buying trips and especially during the anniversary sale. A well-trained sales staff is ready at all times to give customers courteous and efficient service, and Johnstone Walker shopping news will be a daily feature of the Edmonton Bulletin.

Believe Firebug Responsible For Damage To Home

Believed to have been deliberately set by someone with a grudge against the owner or the occupant of a house situated at 9941 112 street, a fire which broke out on the front porch about 8:30 last night, caused considerable damage to the exterior of the building and to porch furniture before it was extinguished by firemen.

Firemen and equipment from No. 2 fire hall, led by District Chief Alf Hargrove, used chemicals to extinguish the blaze.

Fire officials stated that someone had poured gasoline over the doormat and the floor of the porch and then deliberately set fire to it.

The house which is occupied by D. A. Brown, is owned by George E. Passmore of Ridgetown, Ontario. Police are co-operating with fire officials in the investigation.

BEVERLY NOT ABLE PAY FOR SICK PERSONS

Mr. Justice McGillivray also instructed that examination of town records be made to determine whether the seeming lack of orders for hospitalization for Beverly indigents resulted from these instructions.

The Friday morning session was devoted to examination of the former mayor seeking proof of justification for the government's action in deposing the mayor and council in February, 1937 and appointing Nicholas Rushton as administrator.

WITNESS EXAMINED

Mr. McCuaig examined the witness at length on the town's failure to meet payments to the provincial government for unemployment relief and social services, and also why the town had refused to accept responsibility to the province for these accounts.

Mr. Wagner admitted there had been no tax collection enforcement measures taken by Beverly since 1917, but would not admit that there had been no consistent effort made during recent years to collect all available tax money.

Neither would he agree that the financial condition of Beverly was hopeless. Had the provincial government, through the Board of Public Utilities, given the power authorization to tax minerals under town property it would be possible to improve the financial condition considerably, he stated. It was made plain that the board did not have any jurisdiction in this matter, as it was a legal question whether the right to impose this tax existed or not. Mr. Mackie, counsel for the deposed mayor and council, intimated that an opinion had been obtained from the attorney-general's department that the municipality did not have the power to levy such tax.

The witness stated the town had been hampered in its finances through the board of public utilities refusing to divert monies paid as rent to property owners on relief accounts for application on arrears of taxes.

He testified that the letter in February this year, demanding immediate payment of $25,000 on unemployment relief and social service debts owing the province or in the alternative submit to the appointment of an administrator, came as a "bolt out of the blue." Mr. Wagner will continue his evidence Friday afternoon.

Woman, Escort Beaten: Robbed

MINEOLA, N.Y., Oct. 29.—A woman identifying herself as Mrs. Elizabeth Eaton Guggenheim, and her escort reported to police they were beaten and robbed of $400 by two men early today as they were leaving a restaurant. Her escort identified himself as John Frey, Jr., 23. He suffered a split scalp and black eye and Mrs. Guggenheim's chin and cheek were cut.

get a share of returning prosperity in the form of higher salaries. I also believe city council should adopt the 40-hour five-day week.

WOMEN'S SUPPORT

"I have been urged by my friends, especially women, to offer my candidature in the coming civic elections as an alderman," Ald. Crang declared. I think there should be some women on council to represent the needs of women and youth. Also, in my four years as alderman I have gained considerable experience in civic matters, having served on both the bylaws and finance committees, as well as being deputy mayor and chairman of the relief and civic youth committees.

"I believe that my training in law has been helpful to me in dealing with civic questions.

"In adopting a constructive platform, I am looking to the needs of a large and growing city.

"In addition to my council experience, I have served four years on the hospital board and represented the city last year at the Youth Congress held in Montreal. As a result of this Congress, the Federal government contributed $1,000,000 toward youth work in the Dominion."

Two NEW HEINTZMAN PIANOS

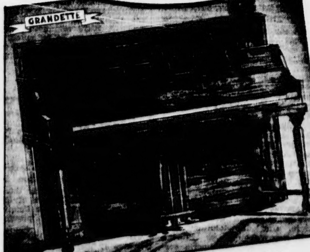
. . . . NEW IMPROVED ACTION

Here are two of the most beautiful creations of Heintzman craftsmanship. Two expressions of the modern vogue for small pianos—they not only meet the most exacting demands of the musician but also of the interior decorator. To fully appreciate the beauty of these instruments and the perfect tone and action, visit our showroom to see and play one for yourself.



● This new interpretation of the Chateau style piano originated by Heintzman meets the demand where grand piano tone and appearance is desired and conservation of space necessary. It embodies all the exclusive Heintzman patented features and improvements. It possesses a pure, balanced tone and the new lighter more responsive action.

● The Louis XV Grand Piano which is illustrated here is but one of the many authentic period case designs which are available to purchasers of Heintzman Grand Pianos. For those with discrimination who desire a superlative instrument in small size, there is nothing smarter than a Heintzman Miniature Grand. To play one of these pianos is an astonishing experience, for it possesses the power and tone before found only in the larger Heintzman Grand.

Supreme Court Test For Federal Disallowance Power

RESULT MAY BE KNOWN IN TWO WEEKS

Decision On Banking Legislation Will Be Told On Tuesday

pending advice from the governor general. What that advice will be the prime minister said would be made known after Tuesday's council meeting.

In the order-in-council made public today the record of August disallowance is set forth in formal language. The order continues:

"Subsequently the Honorable William Aberhart, premier of the government of the Province of Alberta, challenged the constitutional right and competency of the Governor General in Council to disallow the legislation hereinbefore referred to on the ground that the power of disallowance, which the Governor General in Council has professed to exercise, no longer exists, and contended such legislation was, in consequence, still law and would remain law, until declared ultra vires of the provincial legislature by the courts; and, in support of the position so taken by the government of the province of Alberta, the following resolution was adopted by a majority of votes by the legislative assembly of the said province on Sept. 30th, 1937:

"'Whereas the people of Alberta have demanded better living conditions in the form of—first, increased purchasing power by way of a monthly dividend and—second, a lower cost of living; and

"'Whereas in order to carry out the demands of the people, the legislative assembly of Alberta has passed three acts known as "The Alberta Credit Regulation Act", "The Bank Employees' Civil Rights Act" and "The Judicature Amendment Act of 1937"; and

"'Whereas the government general acting on the advice of the Honorable Minister of Justice, has presumed to disallow these three acts; and

"'Whereas the provincial government has notified the Dominion government that the right of disallowance of provincial legislation no longer exists and that it is the intention of the provincial government to proceed with the implementation of the allegedly disallowed legislation;

QUOTES LETTER

"'Therefore be it resolved that the legislative assembly of Alberta accepts the declaration of the provincial government that the right of disallowance of provincial legislation no longer exists and approves the determination of the provincial government that the disallowed legislation shall be implemented, and endorses the proposed intention of the government to have the question of the right of disallowance of provincial legislation by the Dominion government decided by the courts;

"'That in a submission upon the question of disallowance set forth in a letter of October 12, 1937, to the Right Honorable the Prime Minister of Canada, the Honorable William Aberhart stated:

"'In connection with the question of disallowance we have already contended that the Dominion has no right to disallow provincial legislation and consequently our legislation is still law and will remain law until declared ultra vires by the courts. We should respectfully suggest, however, in order to maintain harmonious relationship between the provincial and federal governments that this important question should be definitely settled by the courts. It is well that it should be known exactly what the situation is so that we can be guided accordingly. Therefore, we urge that this question might well be referred to the courts for determination.'"

ACT IS QUOTED

The order then quotes sections 56 and 90 of the British North America act which provides the authority under which the government and previous governments on more than 100 occasions, have disallowed provincial legislation.

Next the order quotes sections 1, 2 and 7 of the Statute of Westminster, 1931, as follows:

1—In this act the expression 'Dominion' means any of the following dominions, that is to say, the Dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia, the Dominion of New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, the Irish Free State and Newfoundland.

2—(1) The Colonial Laws Validity Act, 1865, shall not apply to any law made after the commencement of this act by the parliament of a dominion.

(2) No law and no provision of any law made after the commencement of this act by the parliament shall be void or inoperative on the ground that it is repugnant to the law of England, or to the provisions of any existing or future act of parliament of the United Kingdom, or to any order, rule or regulation made under such act, and the powers of the parliament of a dominion shall include the power to repeal or amend any such act, order, rule or regulation in so far as the same is part of the law of the dominion.

7—(1) Nothing in this act shall be deemed to apply to the repeal, amendment or alteration of the British North America Acts, 1867 to 1930, or any order, rule or regulation made thereunder.

(2) The provisions of section two of this act shall extend to laws made by any of the provinces of Canada and to the powers of the legislatures of such provinces.

POWER RESTRICTED

(3) The powers conferred by this act upon the Parliament of Canada or upon the legislatures of the provinces shall be restricted to the enactment of laws in relation to matters within the competence of the Parliament fo Canada or of any of the legislatures of the provinces respectively.

The order then proceeds to set forth the conclusion of the justice minister, as follows:

"The minister of justice reports that in his opinion the power of the Governor General in Council to disallow provincial legislation is unquestionable and remains in full vigor, but he nevertheless considers that it is expedient, in the public interest, that the question which has been raised by the government of the province of Alberta, with the support and concurrence of the legislative assembly, of that province, as to whether the power of disallowance of provincial legislation conferred upon the Governor General in Council by Section 90 of the British North America Act, 1867, is still a subsisting power, should be referred to the supreme court of Caada for judicial determination."

Premier Aberhart Declines Comment

Premier William Aberhart on Friday declined to comment on the announcement from Ottawa that the Dominion cabinet had agreed to a reference to the supreme court of Alberta on the power of the Dominion government to disallow provincial legislation and that the cabinet had postponed until next Tuesday, its decision as to the disposition of the three bills to which assent was reserved by His Honor Lt. Gov. J. C. Bowen at the last special session of the Alberta house.

The premier stated that he would reserve comment until he received official notification from Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, premier of Canada.

The daughter of Peter Cooper Hewitt, New York electrical wizard, charged her mother, Mrs. Maryon Hewitt, and two San Francisco physicians had deprived her of the rights of motherhood.

$2,000 EXCESS RELIEF PAID TO BEVERLY PEOPLE

Admission was made by F. Wagner, deposed mayor of Beverly, that approximately $2,000 direct relief in excess of the relief regulations was paid to the town's relief recipients during Thursday afternoon's session of the royal commission's inquiring into the financial position of Beverly and causes leading thereto. Mr. Wagner said this amount had to be paid from town funds, no contribution being made by either the provincial or federal governments.

A considerable time was taken determining the actual negotiations leading up to the declaration that Beverly was a mining town. It was alleged that P. J. Rowe, M.P., then secretary, had obtained an order from the Board of Public Utilities declaring the town a mining camp although neither the citizens or town council had approved the proposal.

Denial was made by Mr. Wagner that H. A. Mackie, K.C., who at the time was town solicitor, had interfered in any way in connection with the 1936 election at a special meeting of ratepayers. Mr. Mackie, he said, subsequent to the meeting had been asked if a communication from the Public Utilities Commission intimating intention to appoint an administrator meant there would be no election, he replied, "you can take it or leave it, either have no election or have one and fight them."

The hearing is continuing.

BISHOP GIVES VALEDICTORY ADDRESS HERE

and the country will enter upon a period of rapid "decay and disintegration," Bishop Nelligan declared.

Allied to this desire for service, he stressed, was the need for cultivating the spirit of "local patriotism."

Edmonton was rich in many things, he pointed out, but its crowning blessing resided in the character of its people. They should rejoice in the destiny of the province and regard all obstacles and difficulties simply as opportunities for nobler achievement in their vanquishment.

TRIBUTE TO PIONEERS

Paying tribute to the pioneer citizens of Edmonton and Alberta, he said that these people had carved out their homes from virginal forests and the open spaces of the province, and urged their heirs and descendants to be possessed of the same dauntless spirit.

"As I leave this province, where I spent so many happy and I hope fruitful years, I want to declare my firm conviction that a great future awaits Alberta, and that it is a banner province second to none in the entire dominion."

Thanking Premier Aberhart for snatching time from "his many and arduous duties" to attend the banquet, Bishop Nelligan said he esteemed it a high honor to have been formally felicitated by the province.

"Mayor Joseph Clarke, my old and good friend, seems to typify for me the virility and adventure of the west. My relations with him have been most happy. Indeed, they were so cordial that he once jestingly requested me to be his campaign manager," Bishop Nelligan said amidst applause.

"And I would like to thank the lieutenant-governor for lending the prestige of his presence to this assembly. He is the personal representative of the King, and of those ideals which, clustering round the throne, form the basis upon which rests the immortal legacy of liberty that is the pride of the commonwealth of nations.

"A Catholic bishop, I might add, is by no means forgetful of the glory of this heritage, and of the obligations of those who would seek to preserve it inviolate.

CATHOLICS MOST LOYAL

"I say that no one can be more loyal to British ideals which come down to us with the sanction of the centuries, than are the Roman Catholic citizens of Canada," Bishop Nelligan asserted as applause climaxed his remarks.

Sudden poignancy was injected into the bishop's speech, as, leaning over the festive board and with slow and impressive utterance, he begged the privilege of paying public tribute to his mother and father.

OWED EVERYTHING TO THEM

Everything he now was, he said, he owed to the inspiration of their example. They were poor in worldly things, but rich in that Christian piety and virtue which form the keystone of the Roman Catholic faith and which now seem, unfortunately, to have been cast out of many homes.

"Wherever I go, and whatever I do, I shall always cherish as of fragrant and abiding memory the kindness and friendship of the good people of Edmonton," Bishop Nelligan concluded.

Greeted by cheers from the audience, many of whom had been his parishioners when he was vicar-general of the Edmonton diocese, Archbishop J. C. McGuigan, of Toronto, paid moving tribute to Bishop Nelligan, who once had served him as curate in Edmonton.

KINDLY VISION

"From childhood, boyhood and schooldays I have known Bishop Nelligan and loved him. I have known him, as have you, as one of kindly vision, brave hopes, sympathetic understanding, and a zealous capacity to be of service to his fellow-men.

"He has long been a prince among men, and no one rejoices more than I do to see him now as a prince in the holy mother church."

The church is proud of Bishop Nelligan, said Most Reverend J. H. MacDonald, coadjutor archbishop of Edmonton, as he joined in commending the new prince of the church.

Roman Catholics should be familiar with their church history so that they might make those of other persuasions understand its significance, he advised.

Edmonton and Western Canada have been the source from which Eastern Canada has taken some of its leading bishops, declared J. T. J. Collisson, K.C., in a felicitous tribute to Bishop Nelligan and the Roman Catholic Church.

The Roman Catholic church has written some of the most glorious pages in the annals of Western Canada, he asserted.

ALBERTA NOT SUNNY

"Alberta is not sunny today, and you all know why," said Premier Aberhart. "It is because she is weeping as one of her best sons prepares to leave her. What is Alberta's loss is Ontario's gain. Bishop Nelligan truly has been a valued citizen and I am certain that I am speaking for all races and all creeds in Alberta when I extend to him best wishes for continued and growing success."

Bishop Nelligan was advised by Most Reverend G. C. Murray, Bishop of Saskatoon, to carry away with him in his heart as the gift of all citizens the sunshine of sunny Alberta.

"With Bishop Nelligan I have had happy and valued connections," said Mayor Clarke in responding to a toast to Edmonton moved by Very Reverend J. M. Reardon, rector of St. Mary's Basilica, Minneapolis.

"In his long service in Edmonton he has shown that tolerance, that broadmindedness and that devotion to duty which mark him as a leader, and while we are sorry to see him leave Edmonton, as mayor of the city I wish on behalf of all the citizens of of all creeds and nationalities to wish him Godspeed and success in his new sphere.

"That he will carry with him the same qualities which made him such an outstanding citizen of Edmonton is assured, and I would like to tell him that his career in the future will be watched with kindly and affectionate interest by the people of Edmonton to whom he has endeared himself during his years of residence among us," concluded Mayor Clarke.

FRANCO SHIPS TO BLOCKADE SPAIN'S COAST

Strategy Is Revealed As Palma Becomes Base Of Fleet

PALMA, Mallorca, Oct. 29—Insurgent strategy in the major offensive that General Francisco Franco hopes will conquer all Spain became clear, observers said today, as Franco named this Balearic island port his main naval base and announced a blockade of the entire Spanish coastline still in government hands.

With troops shifted from northwestern Spain, where government resistance crumbled last week, concentrating along the Aragon front to the northeast and in the Almeria zone in the south, observers said the insurgents would be ready shortly for a concerted land, sea and air attack on all sides of the government territory that runs from the French border to the Straits of Gibraltar.

MOVE FROM ATLANTIC

The insurgent blockade, employing all Franco's naval units, was put into effect immediately, it was announced. The insurgent command was able to shift its units from the Atlantic after Gijon fell on the Bay of Biscay.

The naval blockade will extend from the French frontier southward along the Mediterranean coast to Almeria, a distance of about 500 miles.

STRATEGIC POINT

Situated approximately 100 miles from the coast and roughly equidistant from Valencia and Barcelona, the Balearics, observers said, offered a strategic point from which to direct the blockade.

Admiral Moreno Fernandez has at his disposal 35 naval units, including four cruisers—the Canarias, Almirante Cervera, Baleares and Navarra. He also commands a large number of airplanes and seaplanes, both pursuit and bombing, and a strong land garrison.

Employers Spending More On Workmen's Care After Injuries

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—A survey of the American College of Surgeons showing employers are spending more money than ever before to care for their men injured in industrial accidents was reported to the college today.

Employers, said Dr. M. N. Newquist of Chicago, in 1936 spent $5.11 for care of each injured employee. Against this in 1915 they spent 88 cents per injured man. Since then the amounts have risen progressively until in 1932 they were $6.30 for each man hurt.

PAID MORE SLOWLY

But Dr. Newquist said this high rate for each individual in 1932 was due to the fact the cuts in medical expenses were made more slowly than the laying off of men. So the overhead per man was higher. The total money, he said, spent last year was greater than 1932, but it cared for more men.

Dr. Newquist commented on a not generally known fact that in many companies tests for syphilis are "now current" practice both for old and new employees. He said that both old and new men with this disease are usually permitted to work provided they receive "adequate treatment."

He estimated working men lost today $2,000,000,000 annuallly in wages due not only to industrial accidents but to illness and accidents outside of work.

This estimate was based on 116 companies which reported to the American College of Surgeons the industrial accidents of 350,000 employees.

These men lost 208,648 days in 1936 on account of industrial accidents, more than one half day per man. Dr. Newquist estimated they lost 15 times as much as this from illness and non-industrial accidents. He said the common cold is the greatest cause of absenteeism.

U.F.A. Plans To Decide Action

TROCHU, Oct. 29—Convention of the Huxley to Grainger district association of the United Farmers' Association was held here. Mr. Shuttleworth of Balzac addressed the convention.

Executive of the Innisfail U.F.A. constituency association have arranged a convention to be held in the St. Mark's Parish Hall, Innisfail, on Saturday for the purpose of deciding what action the organization should take in the event of a provincial election.

IF IT WILL HELP ALBERTA THE EDMONTON BULLETIN IS FOR IT

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 29

WHAT IT COMES TO

Edmonton's tax rate this year is 54 mills. Last year's rate was 55 mills. One mill on the present assessment of more than $53 millions amounts to, roughly, $53,000. That is the amount of tax reduction achieved by the aldermen who were elected last fall on a tax-reducing platform. "The mountain labored, and has brought forth a mole."

The Commissioners in their annual report add the uncomforting observation that "Taxpayers must not expect any reduction below the present tax levy on account of the refunding scheme alone." The one mill reduction is all they are to get, now or at any time, so far as the refinancing scheme is concerned.

If taxes are to go down next year or in succeeding years, that will have to be brought about by curtailing expenditures on civic services. There is to be no lightening of the debt load. Fortin needs the money.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Of the 54 mills levied for all civic purposes, 26 mills are required to keep the schools going. Direct relief calls for 13 mills. Leaving 14 mills to cover debt charges and carry on police, fire, and all other services; supplemented by utility profits.

Upwards of one-half the levy is for education; upwards of one-quarter for direct relief; something more than a quarter for all other purposes.

Tax reduction by skimping the school expenditure is out of the question. What relief will cost is a matter for the future to decide; there can be no arbitrary reduction there. The opportunity to curtail by scuttling police protection, fire protection, scavanger service, or other services paid for by general taxation, is practically nil.

The chance for tax reduction thus seems to narrow down to the possibility that the province may be induced to contribute something more to the cost of the schools, or the Dominion to the cost of direct relief. There is not known to be any definite prospect in either direction.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION

That part of the report which throws light on the general trend of business in the city is somewhat discouraging. Building permits issued thus far in the year call for an expenditure of $629,000, which is $161,000 less than last year, and only $20,000 above the figure for 1935. The building activity, of which great things were expected, did not get going.

As a direct result, the assessment this year shows a slight drop from that of last year. Had new houses gone up in numbers, the trend would be the other way. Since 1931 the assessment has dropped $13,000,000. While building has been almost at a stand still, some property in that time has lapsed into possession of the city and become non-taxable. The tide has not yet turned, the report shows.

Bank clearings this year, while up eight millions over last year, are scarcely more than in 1935.

Edmonton, these signs indicate, is still in the doldrums, waiting for the prosperity that has come to other parts of the Dominion, and which when it comes will react helpfully upon the finances of the city corporation, directly and indirectly.

THE UTILITIES

Four of the city's utility enterprises continue to earn surpluses. The street railway, after a period of surplus-earning, has run into the red again. It had a deficit of more than $83,000 at the end of September, and was running behind pretty consistently month by month.

This year the utilities have been placed on a taxpaying basis, instead of turning all net earnings into the general funds of the city. In the nine months they paid a total of $472,436 in taxes. With an increase of $120,000 in gross revenue, the group showed an increased joint surplus for the period of $54,877.

The change to a straight taxation basis puts the utilities on the same footing as similar enterprises operating in other cities under private ownership. The amount of taxes to be paid by each thus becomes part of its operating costs, and the surpluses or losses shown after allowing for taxes can be fairly compared with the results of privately-owned concerns of the same types.

The Commissioners foresee a "heavy expenditure" in the near future for extension of the filtration and water storage plant. The street railway will also require considerable outlay, but this can be spread over several years, and meantime the possibility of the economic use of motor buses and trolley buses is to be examined.

RELIEF

During September last the city extended relief to 8,955 persons, against 10,029 in September of last year. The improvement is better than ten per cent, a difference which might be due to weather or other seasonal causes. A perhaps more significant fact is that 1921 families were on the relief list, against 2,241 in September a year ago. The inference may be drawn that men with families, living in the city for some time, are finding jobs less scarce than they were.

The city Comptroller estimates that 30 per cent of those on relief in Edmonton, and other western cities, moved in since the depression began. He buttresses the estimate with figures showing a substantial increase in Edmonton's population in every depression year, save one. For the last three years the growth has been 1,848, 4,075, and 1,338 respectively.

Since it was known everywhere that employment was hard to obtain in the city during these years, the supposition is that many came here because a change of location could not make their fortunes worse and might better them. The estimate that twenty-eight hundred of the newcomers are not self-supporting is not unreasonable in the light of these facts.

Calgary may find in these figures something to console it for having lost out in the population race. Edmonton, it seems, has become a new kind of Mecca.

The city could not prevent outsiders moving in, even when they had no certain prospect of getting employment. The province or the Dominion could have found means to check this influx, but didn't. The city may therefore rightly claim that it should get larger grants of relief money from the provincial and federal funds.

THE OUTLOOK

The general conclusion to be drawn from this presentation of the position of the city is that the future of Edmonton is "in the lap of the gods." Or, to be more explicit—of the two Governments.

The attempt at self-help which the taxpayers started last fall, when they elected members of council pledged to fight for a reduction of bond interest rates, has failed. To prune expenditures enough to lighten the tax load is not practicable. If there is to be financial easement this will have to come through larger grants of school money and relief money from the provincial and Dominion treasuries.

But the restoration of real stability will have to come as the result of a betterment in general conditions affecting the territory upon which it depends for support. If and as this betterment proceeds, business in the city will grow, more of its people will be able to find employment, taxes will be payable, the burgesses will cease to decrease in numbers. The revenue of the city will automatically increase as these things happen. Unless it does increase through the play of these constructive forces "taxpayers must not expect any reduction below the present tax levy." And, it hardly need be added, the present levy is heavier than the value of property warrants the owners in paying.

More than any other single factor presently in sight, the thing that would help Edmonton immediately is the starting of an active house-building "campaign." If the Dominion will at the coming session of parliament take steps to make available the building loans which private capital refuses to supply, it can be predicted with confidence that the coming year will see a veritable building "boom," with a consequent lightening of the relief load, an increase in taxpayers and taxable property, and a definite improvement in the city's finances and outlook.

WHALER LANGUAGE REQUIRES LESSONS

If you count on spending a vacation among the New England coast dwellers, you had better learn their colloquial expressions. They speak as gay and as picturesque language as you ever read about, but it's likely to slow you up if you don't understand the words.

Take this passage, for instance. It's out of any old sailor's mouth:

"Hi! Anybody on deck out there in the yard? I thought I heard you boys gamming under my window. I want you to run up attic right away and make the scuttle fast. The sky looks pretty typestric, as the old lumper at Merrills Wharf used to say to your grandfather. We're going to have a storm, and if I know my weather signs it'll be a tempest. Hurry. Your grandmother'll raise a first-class katowse if it rains in the attic while she's away.

"What's that? You want to move your dunnage from the shed into the kitchen first? I'll take both of you by the slick and give you a first-class keelhauling if you don't start for the attic this minute. It's about time I gave you your comeuppance. You've been sailing close to the wind all day, and my temper is running short. Up those stairs, now—see to it that the scuttle and all the windows are shipshape before you come down."

You've probably gathered that the grandfather wanted the boys to close the attic windows.—The Boston Transcript.

THE END OF INTERNATIONAL ANARCHY

Mr. Lloyd George advises Mr. Eden to ignore the pleadings of timid advisers and deal firmly with the international situation, promising that this course would make him the biggest man in Britain. The Great War premier may know the hearts of his fellow countrymen at this time. He may have reason to believe that they are tired of the years of diplomatic truckling to Fascist bullies and ready to back a strong policy of resistance to aggression.

If Mr. Eden has temporised on many occasions during the last two years it is not because he is without courage or ideals. He has been restrained by more cautious members of the British cabinet, some of whom would part with every principle rather than permit Britain to be involved in another war and others of whom would take no stand in behalf of international law if the immediate effect would be beneficial to ignorant savages, as in Ethiopia, or to left wing elements as in Spain.

The reputation of Mr. Eden might stand higher if he had resigned as soon as the government to which he belonged manifested a disposition to be false to its pre-election pledges with respect to Ethiopia and the League of Nations. He chose to accept a temporary personal humiliation and have Britain move about apologetically in the diplomatic area rather than go out of the position which might afford him new opportunities for steering the world into desirable channels. Recent developments may be cited in justification of his decision.

The real Eden speaks when he says "the world always will be at the mercy of an international incident until there is general acceptance of the rule of law. That is a fundamental of the present situation which cannot be escaped." Venturing upon an interpretation of this remark, Mr. Noel Baker, M.P., says "He meant that we should never have peace until we could establish some system by which the community of states would keep order, in the same way that a national government keeps order, within the states of the civilized nations of mankind. That is to say, we must have rules which the nationals will obey, courts to apply them, machinery to change the rules by peaceful means when injustice intervenes, collective power by which the rules can be upheld if they are challenged and by which the verdict of the courts can be supported and the reduction of armed forces in the hands of individual states so that no aggressor can menace the community as a whole."

The world public slowly is thinking its way through to a conclusion with respect to these matters. When it reaches finality it will take the only measures open to it for chaining up the dogs of war.—Ottawa Journal.

WOMAN'S PLACE IS EVERYWHERE

Woman's place is everywhere, not just the home!

The authority for that statement is no less a person, or personification, than Uncle Sam. In the data his Census Bureau has collected on the activities of those who reside in the United States it is revealed that there is nothing which the fair sex cannot do. Professionally—as distinct from amateurishly—women are listed as artisans in the building trades, as woodchoppers and even as blacksmiths.

These is nothing broad and general about these data which Uncle Sam has collected on the sphere of the fair sex. It is backed up by figures that are engagingly specific.

It shows, for instance, that more than two hundred women rate as fishermen and oystermen, while there are almost one hundred women classified as lumbermen, raftsmen and woodchoppers. In the mining industry there are scores of women operatives and numerous women officials and a handful of feminine overseers.

By digging deeply into Uncle Sam's capacious and revealing files we learn there are twenty-eight women apprentices to the building and hand trades out of a total of 40,000. There are five women carpenters' apprentices, seven electricians' apprentices, six machinists' apprentices.

Not even so brawny a trade as that which comes under the heading "Blacksmiths, Forgemen and Hammermen" has escaped the fine feminine hand. Nine precedent-defying women are listed as engaged in this work out of a total of nearly 148,000.

There are more than two hundred members of the "weaker sex" carrying on as builders and building contractors in this country, while the number of professional women bakers is nearly 9,000. No fewer than fifty women are earning a livelihood as carpenters. Editors know the efficiency of women linotype operators, compositors and typesetters, and it will come as no surprise to them that more than 10,000 American women are in this line of work.

Imagine a woman running a derrick! Yet, unless Uncle Sam has erred badly in his researches, four women are doing just that thing. One woman is employed as a fireman, but Uncle Sam qualifies that with a parenthetical "except locomotive and fire department." However, there is no qualification to the statement that the country boasts fifty-nine feminine glass blowers, thirty-five loom fixers, six millwrights, nineteen garage hands and one airplane mechanic. There is real versatility, but even that by no means calls the roll!

Men by no means have a monopoly on the insurance field, for 13,000 women are acting as agents, with a total of more than 1,700 in posts of great responsibility as managers and officials of insurance companies. At the other end of the scale one finds more than 600 women working as laborers in coal and lumber yards, and more than 400 are listed as "newsboys." There are today, according to Uncle Sam's calculations, more than 500 women established as retail automobile and automobile accessory dealers. Even a business so widely identified as one belonging exclusively to men—that of auctioneering—has yielded to the rising tide of femininity. Four women, according to these official data, wield the authoritative hammer.—Milwaukee Journal.

30,000 FAMILIES TO SET WAGES

The wages of 1,500,000 workers in Great Britain will depend upon how the heads of 30,000 families fill out a form showing the cost of living. This method of obtaining vital information might provoke amazement in another country. In the United Kingdom it is unquestioned. Those whose assistance is sought are on their honor to give facts, and there is no doubt that the British tradition of reliability will be upheld.

If there is occasion for surprise it is in the fact that each householder is expected to give elaborate details of family expenditures, information requiring time and care in compilation. As it will be used to revise a cost-of-living index established before the war, correctness is essential. There is to be some compensation—a fee of 12 shillings 6 pence, and for this each householder must give details of one week's expenditures in each quarter over a year's period.

Thirty thousand families are looked to for honesty and accuracy in recording and reporting, and they are not likely to fail.—Toronto Globe.

Your Health

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, October 31, 1937.

SUNDAY—Breakfast: Eggs poached in milk; served on Melba toast, baked apple. Lunch: All desired of one kind of fruit; glass of milk. Dinner: Baked chicken; Melba toast dressing; buttered beets; salad of shredded lettuce; apricot whip.

MONDAY—Breakfast: Cottage cheese; sliced pineapple. Lunch: Cornbread; string beans; lettuce salad. Dinner: Broiled steak with mushrooms; baked eggplant; salad of raw cabbage; pear sauce.

TUESDAY—Breakfast: Whole-wheat mush; stewed raisins. Lunch: Vegetable soup (large serving); whole-wheat crackers. Dinner: Broiled rabbit; baked eggplant; steamed carrots; salad of raw spinach and lettuce; canned peaches.

WEDNESDAY—Breakfast: Coddled eggs; Melba toast; stewed prunes. Lunch: Minced olive sandwiches on genuine whole-wheat bread; raw celery. Dinner: American cream cheese (one-forth pound to a serving); cooked asparagus; cooked turnips; head lettuce; gelatin.

THURSDAY—Breakfast: French omelet on Melba toast; stewed figs. Lunch: Baked sweet potatoes; cooked celery; salad of shredded lettuce. Dinner: *Mushroom soup; roast beef; baked beets; lettuce and grated carrot salad; prune whip.

FRIDAY—Breakfast: Poached egg; crisp bacon; Melba toast; stewed apricots. Lunch: Buttermilk (1 pint); 10 or 12 dates. Dinner: Jellied tomato consomme; broiled fish; spinach; asparagus; raw cabbage salad. No dessert.

SATURDAY — Breakfast: Baked stuffed apple with a little cream if desired; Melba toast. Lunch: Potato soup; raw celery and lettuce. Dinner: Roast mutton; mashed squash; string bean salad; grapejuice whip.

*MUSHROOM SOUP: Place in 1 quart of cold water, a half-cup of diced celery, one diced carrot, 1 tablespoonful of chopped parsley, and 1 cup of mushrooms cut in small pieces. Place over fire and bring to boiling point. Keep tightly covered, and just below boiling point for 1 hour. When ready to serve, add a little boiling water if liquid has diminished from original quart, and a half pint to a pint of hot cream. Do not thicken with flour. Add a little salt at table if desired.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION—Gloria O. writes: "I notice that for some time the nails on my fingers have been soft and of course, they crack easily. After my bath, I notice that my toe nails are also soft. Will you please advise me?"

ANSWER: It is difficult to give you a definite answer without first examining the nails. However, the nails closely mirror the health of the individual and when the nails become soft and crack or split, there is generally present an internal condition which will satisfactorily explain the abnormal nail condition. Sometimes, the cause of soft nails is a lack of those food minerals in the diet, required to build a strong, normal nail, sometimes the cause is the presence of a fungus.

QUESTION—Mrs. K. D. writes: "My doctor has informed me that I have heart trouble but has made no suggestion as how I am to strengthen my heart muscle. I need some general directions to follow in regard to what I eat and will surely appreciate it if you will answer me through your column."

ANSWER: If your doctor found it unnecessary to give you special advice, he probably deemed your heart disorder not serious. The directions regarding diet which you request are rather long to give in the question and answer column. I suggest that you write me again, sending your full name and address and asking for my general article on Heart Trouble. If you wish some general instructions on diet, mention this in your letter. I request that you send one large, selif-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. The article will be sent to any reader desiring a copy.

FREE SPEECH

Editor Bulletin: While no doubt the great majority of people favor free speech, I am inclined to think a very large majority of the same people are not truly interested when the free speech wanders far away from truth and facts. Free speech is of real value when it presents progressive thought, and tends to lead those who otherwise have little opportunity to keep in touch with current events. The radio should be used to give to people scattered over our province news and facts of events and matters pertaining to what should be of public interest. Conditions prevailing now for some time, have throughout the west as well as in many other parts of the Dominion, caused a great deal of depression of mind and soul, in many homes. Nothing is more welcome in such homes, than cheerful truthful news in the press or over the air; it tends to bring to sight a glimpse of the silver lining, so long hidden by the dark lowering clouds. But alas how disappointing is the majority of what is heard over the air these days. Free speech! Yes, there is quite a lot of it; but is it elevating and educational or is it destructive and degrading? Is it tending to bring about unity of action by provincial institutions in building more solid foundations for a real progressive forward movement, that will tend to bring prosperity, peace and happiness to this great bountiful young province and all its peoples, or is a great deal of what we are hearing from a so-called United Canada League tending to disrupt and incite to actual rebellion against the constitutionally elected representatives of our province? This is the first government I have known in the forty years I have been in the west, that has dared to tackle the job of protecting the true interests of the people who have opened up and proved the wealth of our province, lands, forests, mines, fisheries, minerals, etc., by pioneering, giving their brain, brawn, determination, push, pluck and principles, and many sacrificing even their lives to establish their families, and surmount the many trying and almost impossible conditions of early settlers' difficulties. I for one, who has worked for forty years in the building up of our province, consider it is about time our constitutionally elected government, calls a halt in no uncertain tones, to that so called United Canada League, which is doing

Old Country Letter

By J. E. NORCROSS

LONDON—(By Mail)—The advent of King James I to the throne of England, uniting England and Scotland, brought to an end 500 years of border warfare between the Douglases and the Percys. Nominally each family had charge of its side of the Border in the name of their respective kings. In practice they raided each other in pursuance of a feud carried on from generation to generation.

J. E. Norcross

It was their pleasant custom to go hunting on each other's lands taking the armies which they maintained with them. The hunting being interrupted by the arrival of the party of the other part, a battle ensued and a war was fought with such ferocity that few of either side returned home to tell the tale.

Of Chevy-Chace, an encounter which began by a Percy taking his way there "to drive the deere with hound and horn," it is written in an old ballad:

"Of twenty hundred Scottish speres, scarce fifty-five did flye;
Of fifteen hundred Englishmen, went home but fifty-three;
The rest were slaine in Chevy-Chace, under the greene woode tree."

Both the Percy and the Douglas concerned in that little affair were killed.

The Percys and the Douglases were a law unto themselves. If the sovereign of one or the other country became too insistent on the vassalage of the baron who owed him allegiance, they were quite capable of joining forces against him. Thus it came about that Percy and Douglas fought side by side against Henry IV at Shrews-

A Day in Canadian History

By FRED WILLIAMS

One hundred and ten years ago, Captain Thomas Lee, who had been struck off the roll of militia officers—he was captain in the First Battalion, Quebec city militia—by Governor Dalhousie, published in the Quebec Gazette a vigorous attack on the governor-general, accusing him of having listened to one side of the story only, of having been misled by the commanding officer, Lt.-Col. Joseph Perrault, and of unfairness in issuing the militia general order without a court-martial or inquiry. Not satisfied with the letter in the press, Lee, who was a notary, had it printed in pamphlet, with additions and comments which made good reading for the populace. Lord Dalhousie was so angered that he sued for libel, but was advised to the contrary by the law officers. He also wanted to have the printers of the pamphlet sued and the pamphlet suppressed; but they had distributed the type and told his excellency that the brochure was "out of print" and all copies in circulation were hidden. Captain Lee, of Irish blood, elected to rest under the charge of having disobeyed orders; he carried his case to the war office and secured an order reinstating him in his rank, while his C.O. was "retired to the reserve."

Fifty years ago, on October 20, 1887, an interprovincial conference met at Quebec, on the call of Honore Mercier, who had been swept into power by the agitation over the execution of Louis Riel in November, 1885. All the provincial ministries were Liberal, except Prince Edward Island and British Columbia, and Laurier had just been chosen as Liberal leader at Ottawa; it looked like a good time to present a united front and demanded increased subsidies and other concessions from Sir John A. Macdonald. As a matter of fact, the provinces gained little, but the conference promoted a party solidarity which culminated in the great provincial trio, Mowat, Fielding and Blair joining Laurier.

U.S. ACTION GREAT AID TO STOCK MARKET

Federal Reserve Stimulant Given Very Willing Patient Yesterday

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—The United States federal reserve board stimulant to margin buying of securities found a willing patient yesterday in the stock market and prices of leading issues gained $1 to $4 or more a share. Trends finished generally firm in the Canadian market.

The board's action in lowering margin requirements for buyers from 55 to 40 per cent., and imposing a 50 per cent. requirement for short-selling, filled the stock exchange with buying orders at the opening of trading.

FAVORITES RISE

Some favorite issues rose $6 or more in the first hour of dealings. Blocks of 1,000 to 15,000 shares changed hands as the "shorts," those who had sold stocks they didn't own in expectation of further declines in prices, bought at the best price they could get to make delivery of their committments.

The "short-covering" demand in some issues was so heavy it was 30 minutes or so before opening prices could be determined. The first transaction in Chrysler was 10,000 shares at $5 up from yesterday's close.

PRICES UPWARD

The chanage in the reserve board's policy on margin requirements—an about-face from the restrictions placed upon speculation as stock prices steadily advanced from the depression depths to the peak reached last spring—was quickly approved in Wall Street.

It was regarded, however, as a factor for the short-term improvement of the stock market, rather than an element for the long-term betterment of business conditions generally.

"CANADA CALLING"

Editor, Bulletin: You may be interested in the following clipping from the Bristol (England) Observer of October 2:

"Canada Calling Bristol. . . ." That is the keynote of a great effort which is to be made next week to make Bristol people Canada-conscious.

At least 650 shops in the city, including every important store, will be making special displays of Canadian goods. Housewives are to be urged to give a chance to products guaranteed by Canada's pure-food laws.

On Monday the Lord Mayor will be the principal guest at a luncheon to be given at the Grand Hotel by the Canadian Trade Commissioner for the West of England, Mr. E. L. McColl, whose office is in Bristol. Among others present will be representatives of Canada, of Bristol's commerce and of the Port of Bristol, which imports large quantities of Canadian cheese, bacon and apples.

Other foodstuffs Canada can supply include canned fruits and vegetables of all kinds, canned salmon, lobster, soups, poultry, breakfast cereals, honey, jams and jellies, sauces and pickles.

CRITICS

Editor, Bulletin: Mr. Manning stated over the air that it costs banks nothing to pay taxes, which has brought denials from many quarters although the school children of Alberta know the statement is true.

There are two kinds of money, currency and cheque book money. Federal records of 1936 show we have $238 million in currency in circulation and there are two billion four hundred million on deposit, which shows there are two billion one hundred sixty two million that is transferable only by cheque as there is no currency with which to transfer this cheque book money. All of this was created by the banks as no one else is permitted to create same. So when a bank writes a cheque to pay its taxes to the government say for $1,000.00 the bank has created that amount of money that did not exist until they wrote the cheque.

Bank records show that on the average that only 10% of business is done with currency which means they would only be called upon to pay out $100 in currency as a result of issuing this $1,000 cheque.

Some say, well according to that the bank would be out $100 according to that statement; true they would possibly have to hand out some currency, but what difference does that make—they get the currency for nothing, it is impossible for them to get it any other way for the simple reason that the banks produce nothing.

Does the man from Mars give them this currency? Do they dig any coal or grow any wheat or manufacture anything? Most certainly not. Then how do they get this money? It's simple, all they have to do is put some paper and ink into the bank note press and out comes millions of dollars if they so order, and when the press runs out of paper and ink all they have to do is print a few extra bills and buy more paper and ink, so what difference does it make if they have to put out some currency on their tax paying cheques.

Oh, but they must have gold in reserve before they can print currency. True, but that's easy. Why, how do you make that out? For the simple reason you never heard of bankers going down in the mines to dig gold, did you? They don't produce anything that they can give in exchange for this gold, so how do they get this precious metal? You, the bankers' slaves dig it for them and they give you some of this paper and ink money for it, and once they have given this money to the company you work for and they pass some of it on to the slaves, the bank has made 4 dollar bills for every dollars worth of gold they get, in other words, after paying for the gold it leaves them 300% profit.

Of course the banks go through mystical process, they issue a draft upon themselves and you honor same by being willing to produce something in order to get their money that they print. But that does not change the glaring fact that they have got the gold for nothing, because there is absolutely no other way they can get it, for the simple reason as above stated, they can't give coal, or wheat or what have you, for they work not therefor have nothing to give in exchange.

Even the bank employees cost the banks nothing for they are paid with this same free commodity.

You never heard the bankers' spokesman tell you how they get this currency. Why? It might start somebody thinking. They said a lot, but mostly smoke screen in nature.

Why doesn't Alberta start its own bank? It has taken many years for these banks to build up their huge capitalization that permits them to issue huge sums of credit, and Alberta would have to start as a baby bank, then too they would be called upon to pay out more cash on their credit issues than the present banks, because you all know the powers that be would try to prevent it from functioning like other banks.

THE enmity of the two great houses, although it could no longer take active form, probably continued for long after the Border had no longer to be defended from either side. But it is all over now. For the young Marquis of Clydesdale, heir of the House of Douglas, is to marry Lady Elizabeth Percy, daughter of the Duke of Northumberland.

It is said to be a love match and all the north from Tees to Forth is interested in it. But not as it would have been five hundred years ago, when the Douglas would have had to carry off his fair lady and more than one bloody battle would have been fought over her in the Cheviots.

There may be bonfires on the hills when the marriage takes place.

In other days there might have been burning villages instead.

NOW that the British house-building program is in a fair way to completion it is beginning to be seen that something better might have been produced. It is not that the houses and flats are not good of their sort. As shelters they are a big improvement on the dwellings they have replaced. The trouble is that, notwithstanding the modern improvements they embody, they are not homelike.

"You can be homely in a slum and very unhomely in a modern tenement," said Lord Horder, the King's Physician, the other day. He was addressing the national coal convention.

"Reaction against slums," he continued, "has led to the mass production of a type of living-room which makes the modern operating theatre look cheerful by comparison."

Lord Horder does not approve of the complete substitution of central heating, as in tenement-buildings, for open fires. He confessed himself an advocate of the open fire-place.

Many modern homes, he said, were heated by less healthy means. There should be at least one open fire-place in every home.

True, there was the smoke problem and it would be an enormous blessing if smoke could be eliminated.

But "give us coal fires which we all want," he concluded, "and let them be as clean and safe as possible."

Legislature Hears Plea For Acceptance Of Prairie Sufferers

VICTORIA, Oct. 29.—Absorption of people from the drought-stricken districts of the prairie provinces by British Columbia should be encouraged, Captain Cecil Bull, Liberal member of the legislature for South Okanagan, declared yesterday.

Speaking during the Throne Speech debate, Captain Bull said it was British Columbia's duty "to put ourselves in a position to absorb cheerfully and adequately those unfortunate people who come to us from the drought-stricken areas of the prairies."

"The financing of this, I feel, is definitely a Dominion matter," he added. "Last week I was told by a member of the legislative assembly from Alberta, that people were being taken at the rate of three a week to the asylum from the Alberta drought area.

"When things are as bad as this, when people are going mad because of the complete hopelessness of their environment, it would seem necessary that these people should be the invited guests of every province in the Dominion."

In connection with increasing British Columbia's population Capt. Bull remarked:

"There is not the slightest doubt in my mind that if Italy, Germany or Japan had owned this province in the past 10 years the population would have been infinitely greater than it is today.

"In consequence every effort should be made towards the aim of absorbing within our fertile and hospitable boundaries a population in keeping with our territory and resources."

COULD HARDLY CLOSE HANDS
Had Rheumatism and Neuritis

"I suffered severely from Rheumatism and Neuritis," writes Mr. W. J. Tracy of Toronto. "I could hardly walk upstairs or close my hands. After taking Fruitatives four days the swelling left my hands and knees. I could climb stairs and ladder. I advise any person suffering as I did to take Fruit-a-tives. They give quick relief." Try this real fruit juice, herb and tonic prescription of a famous Canadian doctor. If you suffer, they might clear up your case too. 25c. and 50c. No substitute. At druggists.

Peace River Growers Dissatisfied In Grain Grading

PROTEIN BIG FACTOR SAYS DAN KENNEDY

Grain Probe Hears Fairview Man, Former Member of Parliament

WINNIPEG, Oct. 29.—Dan Kennedy, Fairview, Alta., farmer and former member of parliament, told the Turgeon Royal Grain Commission today he believed protein content, the index of baking strength, has become a factor in wheat grading.

Protein content seems to be a real factor in grading Winnipeg samples, he said, but does not appear to be considered in grading of Peace River wheat. Mr. Kennedy declared dissatisfaction over grading of the 1937 crop existed among Peace River farmers.

PEACE RIVER PROTEST

James G. Fraser, chief inspector of the Board of Grain Commissioners, denied protein content was a factor in grading. He said the protest of Peace River farmers respecting grading was under consideration of the board.

Winnipeg sessions of the inquiry were concluded today and the commissioner, Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon, left for his home at Regina for a short rest before sittings resume at Ottawa November 10.

"Wheat samples from the Peace River country which are being graded as low as No. 3 Northern have proven to be superior to Winnipeg No. 1 Northern," Mr. Kennedy declared. He presented a comparative table to support his contention.

Zoning as a grading consideration would be both hopeless and unfair so far as protein content is concerned, Mr. Kennedy said. In the Peace River area, where there are many varieties of soil, such a system would be impossible.

BACK TO FARM

Mr. Fraser, who followed Mr. Kennedy to the stand, was asked by Hon. J. L. Ralston, commission counsel, if it was possible for farmers to get the benefit of protein content in their wheat.

"The difficulty is to get the benefit back to the farmer," witness said. He declared it did not appear feasible to make protein content a factor in grading.

GAS COMPANY HINTS UPON GOOD HEATING

Practical Observations Upon Best Methods To Weather Winter Cold

Edmonton's first touch of winter is regarded as a gentle reminder for those who depend upon heat for their comfort to take precautions against elements which may have arisen during the non-heating period.

It is pointed out by radiation experts that many causes may be contributory to inefficient house warming during the coming cold period not the least of which is the question of chimneys.

That birds may have built their nests there during the summer season is a possibility.

Clean furnaces and flues will go far towards making home life more comfortable while if hot water systems are used there is always the necessity of flushing with a reliable cleaner.

How about that cold room that's always been hard to keep comfortable? Now is the time to have that fixed.

Has weather stripping or storm doors and windows been installed this year? Is everything in readiness for their use and do they fit properly? There may be a large fireplace in the living-room . . . when this is not in use is the damper shut?

If not, it provides an excellent avenue for the escape of heat, particularly if it is near a warm air register.

In many cases it is found that a lot of heat is being wasted in the basement. Why not have a heating contractor advise how to conserve this heat.

When making a check-up, if there is any doubtful point the local gas company will gladly advise you free of charge.

Brains Of Feminine Is Superior To Male

SUDBURY, Ont., Oct. 29.—Feminine brains proved superior to those of the male in intelligence tests conducted during a social evening held by the Protestant Young People's Union at nearby Markstay, but cake baked by Ken Johnson, president of the club, was awarded first prize in a culinary contest.

Ride 'Em Coyote Befits This Youth

VANSCOY, Sask., Oct. 29. — Ride 'em cowboy had a new meaning for Henry Gilbertson, a Vanscoy lad. Walking across a field the small boy decided to jump over a big Russian thistle, but his attempt failed and he landed in the middle of the weed patch right on the neck of a coyote.

Calgary Police Hunt Dog Poisoner

CALGARY, Oct. 29.—A dog poisoner, who places the lethal dose in chocolate coated candy, was sought by police here today. In a west end district, 10 dogs, some just dogs but highly prized by their owners and others show animals, have been poisoned.

JILL

By MARY RAYMOND

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JILL WENTWORTH, heroine, attractive debutante.
ALAN JEFFRY, hero, rising young artist.
BARRY WENTWORTH, Jill's stepbrother.
JACK WENTWORTH, Jill's brother.

Yesterday: Jill arrives from Europe, meets Alan Jeffry. Then he was to drop out of her life and she wanted to know so much more about him!

CHAPTER II

JILL spoke quickly: "I'm Jill Wentworth. The John H. Wentworths. We're the only ones in the book. You'll call me some day, won't you? I want to see the picture you made of Miss Benedict."

"Thanks," said the young man, "I'm Alan Jeffry."

The taxi rolled to a stop at the curb.

"Be careful of the large case, driver."

Probably some of his old pictures, Jill thought. That was all he cared about.

"Goodby." She spoke faintly. All the confidence was gone. A lump was in her throat. She liked him tremendously. She had liked him tremendously in Europe.

Now, she had pocketed her pride, as mother would say in the Gay Ninety way, and what good had come of it? She had told him her life history. She had invited him to call. He had said "thanks" in that remote, cool, clipped voice of his—all the friendliness gone. And he wouldn't call her. Jill was sure of it.

The driver had dumped the young man's bags on the curb, hiding his astonishment.

"Goodby," said Alan Jeffry, quickly, handing a bill to the driver. He lifted his hat, placed it firmly on his head, picked up his luggage and headed toward a subway.

Jill had a wild desire to call out: "Where are you going?"

But of course no well-bred girl would to that. She settled decorously back in the seat and nonchalantly touched up her lips. Just in case that driver suspected her deep disappointment.

Maybe he is a very good painter, Jill thought, trying to extract some comfort. Maybe his pictures will be exhibited. Certainly, she was going to read the art sections in all the newspapers from now on.

The lonesome feeling persisted. Jill couldn't shake it. Not even when the taxi was rolling up the driveway of her home.

"I'm at home!" Jill thought, trying to muster enthusiasm.

A moment later, she was standing irresolutely in front of the massive door. She waited another moment before pressing the bell. Well, what had she expected. A brass band, as Alan Jeffry had suggested.

The door swung open. "Miss Jill!"

"How are you, Howell?" Jill spoke pleasantly to the amazed butler. Some of her sober mood dropped from her.

"Nobody knew I was coming," Jill added. "Is mother at home?"

"Yes, Miss Jill, and mighty busy—" Howell checked himself, with a swift upward glance.

Jill mounted the stairs, smiling a little. When had she ever known her stepmother when she wasn't busy at something. Making a tremendous stir about the simplest thing.

She had reached Mrs. Wentworth's room, and now knocked.

"If she were my own mother," Jill thought, "doors wouldn't stop me. But she's probably being massaged."

It was her stepmother's nails this time.

Admitted by Norah, Mrs. Wentworth's maid, Jill found her stepmother lying back in a deep, cushioned chair. One plump, white hand was extended for the deft ministration of a red-haired manicurist.

"Jill! Heavens, where did you come from?" Mrs. Wentworth exclaimed.

"From Europe. I've been spending some time there recently. Didn't you know?" Jill's tone was light, as she stooped and kissed the older woman.

"It's a wonder that I did. You are a very unsatisfactory correspondent, Jill. Why didn't you cable that you had definitely decided to sail?"

"It doesn't matter now. I'm here," Jill said.

"It matters a great deal." Mrs. Wentworth spoke stiffly. "You know what your father will say when he finds out no one met you. Of course, if I had been a mind reader—" She broke off, as her attention wavered from Jill to her rose-tipped nails. "They look very nice, Miss Cartwright. Norah, take Miss Cartwright's case down. Tell Davis to drive her back to town, and to stop on the way for the cakes."

Jill had risen from her chair.

"Oh, don't go, Jill!"

There was something queer about her stepmother's manner, Jill decided. The bright excitement in her face and voice presaged something.

"Barry is giving a house party at the lodge," Mrs. Wentworth said, when they were alone.

"Grand," Jill said. But her tone was not enthusiastic. House parties at the lake were generally terribly tame affairs.

"It's for Sylvia Sutton!" Mrs. Wentworth exclaimed. Triumph was in her voice.

"Oh!"

Even in Europe Jill had heard the name of the oil heiress — the fabulously rich oil heiress — who had come to New York last year and been presented at one of the biggest and most extravagant parties in metropolitan history.

Jill leaped to her feet. Her face flushed scarlet, and then turned very white. "Then I won't go! You know I detest him."

It was difficult to believe that a rich and lovely girl could be interested in Barry. It wasn't only that Barry was weak and dissipated. He was arrogant and selfish, beside.

"Sylvia's been giving him all her time since she came here." Pride was in Mrs. Wentworth's voice. Jill could see that merely coupling Sylvia Sutton's name with that of her son was intoxicating to her stepmother.

"I saw her picture in a London paper once," Jill said slowly. "She is beautiful, isn't she?"

"Yes."

Mrs. Wentworth was staring at Jill. She noted the slim charm of her stepdaughter, the dark blue eyes curtained by sooty lashes. Jill's wavy bob was rich brown. Her nose was slender and her mouth, curving into a smile, revealed lovely white teeth. There was a hint of firmness in Jill's chin, which had a small cleft that often passed as a dimple.

People would be calling Jill a beauty now. Which would have its compensations. Beautiful girls got husbands without much effort. She was sure Jill wouldn't go out of her way to get one. Like all other gifts of the gods, a husband would probably have to be dumped right down into Jill's lap.

"It's about time you settled down in New York for a while," Mrs. Wentworth said slowly. "Most of your friends are marrying or are engaged. What are your plans for the winter?"

"A grand campaign of taking over the natives," Jill answered. The last thing I want to do is to take over the town, Jill thought, laughing inside. But this was the kind of patter that pleased her stepmother. So why not?

"Scotch though Dad says I am, I still have some verra verra smart clothes," Jill continued. "I quite dazzled a young man who was on the same boat coming over. He was plainly disappointed because a brass band didn't meet me."

"Did you see very much of him?" Mrs. Wentworth's voice rose eagerly.

"I bumped into him practically everywhere." Jill was smiling. Never, never would she tell her stepmother that the young man had come over tourist. Her interest would register absolutely nothing if she knew that.

"I'm planning for you to attend the house party with Milo," Mrs. Wentworth said suddenly.

Jill leaped to her feet. Her face flushed scarlet, and then turned very white. "Then I won't go! You know I detest him."

"You forget, Jill, that Mr. Montanne has been a wonderful friend to your father." Mrs. Wentworth's voice was soft, but somehow it sounded hard and cold, despite its softness.

Never, Jill thought miserably, have I been allowed to forget the Big Three. The trio of bankers had loomed in the background of the Wentworth existence as long as she could remember.

Jill had always realized vaguely that in some way the three bankers were definitely connected with the financial well-being of her family. Ever since the beginning of the depression—which everybody spoke of now in the past tense—the Montanne-Whitman-Beresford triumvirate had been "conferring" with her stepfather.

"You can be very rude and obstinate, Jill." Mrs. Wentworth's eyes gleamed coldly. "I'm afraid it's too late for you to refuse, however. I called Milo and told him there was a chance you'd arrive in time for the party. And he said he would be delighted to take you."

"Then, I suppose there is nothing I can do about it," Jill said, furiously. "You were afraid I would refuse. And so you called him first."

"Don't be rude, Jill." Mrs. Wentworth dropped her gaze before the honest blaze in Jill's eyes, and critically studied her nails.

After a moment, she heard the door close behind Jill.

Her lips closed in a hard, thin line. This was the way to handle that spoiled, determined girl.

Barry and Sylvia! Jill married to rich Milo Montanne and out of her way. Things would work out if she played her cards carefully.

ALL-DOMINION MEDICAL UNION IS CONSIDERED

OTTAWA, Oct. 29—Executive of the Canadian Medical Association yesterday discussed plans for federation of all provincial medical associations and the Dominion body and a spokesman said: "We are just beginning to appreciate the difficulties the fathers of confederation had."

The executive which meets here every autumn sought to formulate details of a federation plan which has been approved in principle by all provincial associations.

"We are trying," Dr. T. C. Routley, general secretary, said, "to work out a federation that will be satisfactory to all Canada. It is quite a job."

All provincial associations were represented at the meeting which will end tonight.

GOITRE EXPERT VISITOR TO B. C.

MERRITT, B.C., Oct. 28.—Dr. F. R. Gerl, German authority on thyroid glands and goitre, left here today for Chicago and New York after a brief visit here with an old friend, Penrhyn Goldman.

Dr. Gerl said in an interview here he had come to this continent in efforts to organize international co-operation toward pooling of research findings in treatment of thyroid disorders and goitre. He said he would probably return to Canada and the United States next March.

Director of a clinic near Munich, Bavaria, Dr. Gerl said he was "very favorably impressed" by the Banting Institute in Toronto.

Coast Woman May Presume Spouse Dead

VANCOUVER, Oct. 29—Mr. Justice A. M. Manson today issued an order in supreme court chambers here presuming the death of Jackson Harrison, former Vancouver real estate salesman.

Laura Agnes Harrison, wife of the man presumed dead, said her husband wrote to her from Winnipeg in July, 1929, saying he had left Vancouver in a hurry, and giving her a general delivery address. She received another letter in August, 1929, but has had no word from him since.

Home Is Declared Safest During Raid

LONDON, Oct. 29 — London crowds will not stampede into underground tube stations in the event of air raids.

Geoffrey Lloyd, undersecretary to the home office, told the house of commons today that it was not anticipated that normally there would be any material difficulty in gas-proofing the rooms of private houses but railway stations were not to be considered safe.

New Zealand Labor Votes For Boycott

WELLINGTON, Oct. 29. — The New Zealand Federation of Labor today decided to boycott Japanese products despite opposition from Prime Minister Michael Savage.

The Federation also addressed a letter to the International Federation of Trades Unions and the Socialist (second) International recommending an international boycott against Japan.

Sydney, N.S., Suffers $150,000 Fire Loss

SYDNEY, N.S., Oct. 29.—Damage which early estimates placed at between $100,000 and $200,000 was caused by fire which swept through a three-storey brick building and damaged two others in this Cape Breton city's main business street early today.

Heaviest loser was C. Roy Mason, Cape Breton agent for the Robert Simpson Eastern, Limited. He placed the damage to his stock and building at about $100,000.

Death Druggist Must Stand Trial

TORONTO, Oct. 29. — James G. Armstrong, New Toronto druggist, was committed for trial today on a manslaughter charge arising from the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Cardy. Bail of $4,000 was renewed.

Mrs. Cardy and Mrs. Helen Heron died from cyanide poisoning after taking medicine compounded by Armstrong, a coroner's jury found last week. He faces a charge in Mrs. Heron's death also, but the crown proceeded only on one today.

Time Means Money In This Contest

No doubt you've heard "that time means money" before . . . but we remind you again. Because if you have the time (the correct time in this case) you can cash in on one of the 12 splendid prizes being awarded in the time-guessing contest now being staged by Jackson Bros., Jewelers, Ltd., 9962 Jasper Ave. There's nothing to the contest. All you have to do is estimate the length of time it takes an ordinary one-day winding watch to run down without interference. The main idea is to guess the time (in hours, minutes and seconds) correctly. Estimate blanks are available at Jackson Bros. store. Out-of-town contestants can write a letter stating their guess in hours, minutes and seconds. Don't forget to state which division you want, whether ladies', men's, boys' or girls'.

MME. KAI-SHEK INJURED WHEN CAR TIRE BURSTS

SHANGHAI, Oct. 29—Injury of Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek in an automobile accident while travelling between Nanking and Shanghai was disclosed officially today.

Mme. Chiang, wife of the head of the Chinese government and army and secretary general of the Chinese national air force, suffered a fractured rib and shock.

The accident occurred last Saturday midway between Nanking and Shanghai when a rear tire of her automobile burst.

She was catapulted 14 feet out of the car into a muddy pool where she lay unconscious.

Veteran Banker Dies

TORONTO, Oct. 29.—James F. Scarth, 62, manager of a large Toronto branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada, died at his home here Thursday of pneumonia. Born in Toronto, he entered the service of the bank 45 years ago and later became inspector for Western Canada.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Famed Salvationist Tells of Army's Wonderful Work

PRACTICAL AID LINKED WITH SPIRIT UPLIFT

Commissioner Langdon Of London Greeted By Happy Audience

"If enough trouble is taken with men, many can be saved. To give a man a few shillings, even a couple of pounds, and tell him to go straight, is simply a waste of time and money."

This extract from a letter, written by a man who had been "saved" by the good offices of the Salvation Army when he was "down and out", was read to a gathering of more than 400 Edmonton Salvation Army workers and citizens at a meeting in the citadel on 102 street, Thursday evening, by Commissioner George Langdon of London, England.

WORK IN ENGLAND

The silver-haired commissioner, who accompanied General Evangeline Booth, world leader of the Army, on her present visit to Canada, told the gathering about social service work being carried on in London and throughout the British Isles.

Ruddy-faced, strong-voiced he told his listeners of accomplishments through the "power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ," regaled them with humorous anecdotes. Though he occasionally referred to cases of men's misery, he kept his theme in a happy vein and his hearers in a state of mirth and jollity.

Behind him on the platform were Citadel Songsters and the massed bands of the three Edmonton corps. Above their heads, on the clean, white wall of the lofty-ceilinged citadel, stood out in bold type the words, "The World for God."

LYMBURN CHAIRMAN

Chairman of the meeting was J. F. Lymburn, K.C., former attorney-general of Alberta, who was presented by Major J. Acton, commander of the Army's Edmonton division. Others present on the platform, some of whom spoke briefly, were Rev. A. E. Black, president of the Edmonton Ministerial Association; Major D. E. Cameron, chief librarian of the University of Alberta library, and Magistrate A. H. Gibson, K.C.

The meeting was merry and showed its appreciation of speakers and musical selections by vigorous clapping, while the band's drummer heightened the effect of the ovations by a roll on his bass drum. Laughter was hearty and full-throated.

"The original purpose of the Salvation Army was exclusively evangelical," Commissioner Langdon said, "but General William Booth, its founder, soon found that the man who was out of work and fallen, the girl who was betrayed and facing motherhood out of wedlock, the discharged prisoner without opportunity or references, needed not only spiritual help, but material aid.

PROVIDE SHELTER

"He was guided not only to preach the gospel but to provide food and shelter."

In the growth of the organization, it now provides social services in 90 countries and colonies and in 50 languages.

The Army's methods of helping men were based on helping a man to help himself, he said. They considered promiscuous money donations or alms giving was injurious and detrimental.

"There is no permanent help for the man unless he gets converted," he said. He told of men in the underworld, many of whom had held high positions in all professions. Many of these were helped to rehabilitate themselves.

FINDS WORK

Every night, throughout England and Scotland, 10,000 men are taken in and given shelter, the commissioner said. The Army finds work for 1,300 men every year.

Reforms in English prisons, he said, had been of so great an extent in the last 40 years that the number of ordinary prisons had declined from 56 to 26.

"Men are coming out now, not vowing vengeance on society, but desirous of making a new start in life."

The Salvation Army staff band in London had been the first to avail itself of the opportunity provided by a statute introduced by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill to go into the prisons and provide "festivals of music" for the prisoners, the commissioner added.

WORK IN SLUMS

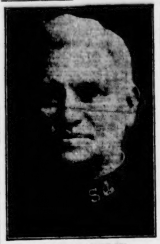
Slum work was another great enterprise of the Salvation Army, he said, and through this avenue many people had been brought to a knowledge of God. Mothers and children from the slums are given holidays at the seaside, he said.

"Our aim in social work is to emulate our Lord and Master, of whom it was said that He went about doing good, the commissioner concluded.

A junior choir, the Citadel Singing Company, rendered the vocal selection, "Joy Bells."

Commissioner Langdon will address another meeting Friday night in the Alberta Avenue Corps headquarters.

Speaker



COMM. LANGDON
veteran official of Salvation Army who delivered an inspiring message here Thursday night.

Scientists Probe Rich Radium Find

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 29.—Government scientists are leaving for Cordoba province to investigate newly discovered deposits of radium and uranium, Argentina government officials announced today.

The deposits which officials said "may prove the richest so far found in the world," were reported in the district of Calamuchita, Cordoba, in an area reserved for government exploitation.

What To Do

I am in need of new window draperies for my living room and am considering making curtains of either linen or chintz. Are draperies of this kind generally lined? Would plain or figured curtains be best with a figured rug?

MRS. W. C. M.

Answer—Window draperies of linen are generally lined with a plain light-colored sateen, but curtains of chintz may be used without lining. Before deciding on the color or kind of material, consider the room as a whole—the walls, the rug, the furniture covering and the amount of light that enters the room from the windows. Avoid too many figured fabrics in a room. It gives a sense of confusion. But if your walls and furniture covering are plain, figured curtains and a figured rug will relieve the monotony. Whether draperies are plain or figured they should blend into the rest of the room. The wrong color at the windows will make the curtains stand out too prominently.

Beauty Short-Cuts For Average Woman

By ALICIA HART

To keep herself young looking and attractive, the woman who has a limited amount of leisure time, and even more limited budget, simply has to take advantage of the various shortcuts to beauty, learn to do what has to be done in the few free hours she has.

Facials which require much time and effort, elaborate massage treatments, professional pedicures and manicures are wonderful, of course. And women with enough leisure to permit these luxuries are lucky indeed.

But Mrs. Average Woman—she who has only enough time and money to allow for a weekly visit to the hairdresser—has to figure out ingenious ways and means to keep her skin, hair, nails and figure lovely in spite of seeming handicaps.

She has to do daily exercises even though she would much rather have a masseuse rub away excess weight here and there on her body. If she usually is too tired to do much about her face before going to bed, she must learn to cleanse it thoroughly but quickly, to apply night cream deftly so that each stroke counts. Also to choose a cream which can remain on while she sleeps, thus providing benefit without effort.

If you seldom have time to give wrists and elbows a careful creaming, then cover them with your richest cream tomorrow morning before you start sweeping and dusting. Leave the cream on for at least an hour. To keep cuticle soft and in perfect order, apply cuticle cream before you start to dust the books, clean the attic and so on.

The business girl who devotes one evening a week to beauty, giving herself a manicure, pedicure, scalp treatment and facial, can get by nicely. Furthermore, any woman with almost no leisure time as well as one with plenty of time to spare, will have fewer beauty problems if she eats sensibly, takes long walks in the fresh air, sleeps eight hours every night.

Wherever blonde Martha Stephenson, debutante daughter of Mrs. Paul Forester, goes, society photographers gather around. Tall and slender, the socially prominent, fair-skinned, green-eyed girl walks with the grace of a professional model, has a charming smile. In fact, she's done a bit of posing for commercial photographers. She smokes very little, doesn't drink even one cocktail, was born in Birmingham, Ala., just 18 years ago. This picture was taken while Miss Stephenson was having dinner with her mother at the Stork Club.

Minute Make-Ups

$35,000 PLANS FOR LIGGETTS ARE DISCUSSED

Plans for the carrying out of alterations, improvements and additions to the Liggett's drug store branch at Jasper and 101 street, involving an expenditure of between $30,000 and $40,000 were discussed by company officials here on Thursday.

Capt. J. B. Mason, M.C., representing the Liggett interests, with headquarters at Toronto, was a visitor Thursday morning, making a side trip from Saskatoon, where he is supervising expansion of company premises there. He left later in the day for Saskatoon.

Work on the Edmonton expansion is to commence next April and the expectation is that the store when completed, will be one of the most modern of its kind in the Dominion.

REHABILITATION OF FARMING IS BURNING NEED

Urgency Of Situation Is Stressed By United Farm Leader At Brandon

BRANDON, Man., Oct. 29—Rehabilitation of Western Canada agriculture is the Dominion's greatest problem and continued effort must be made to bring back farms to useful production and restore the morale of western people, W. J. Davidson, vice-president of the United Farmers of Manitoba, told the association's annual convention here today.

Mr. Davidson presented a report, adopted by the convention, on rehabilitation in Western Canada. Prof. J. H. Ellis of the University of Manitoba, Manitoba government representative on the prairie farm rehabilitation act administration, told the convention "all the plains region in Western Canada is a potential drought area and we will always have droughts at various intervals in this area."

"There is today no problem of greater magnitude before the Canadian people than agricultural rehabilitation in the west," Mr. Davidson said.

"Something must be done to recover the economic position of these people who, at one time, enjoyed a comfortable living and who today are almost destitute, discontented, unable to maintain a decent standard of living.

"And while we have been considering largely the economic phase of the situation in regard to bringing back farms into useful production, we must not minimize another very important phase. That is to bring back the morale of the people. Give them courage to fight the battle that is before them. These people have not proper food to eat or clothes to wear and are almost ready to believe our civilization and democracy has failed."

Breach Of Elections Case Thrown Out

TORONTO, Oct. 29.—Magistrate James Cowan today dismissed a charge of breach of the Elections Act laid against Michael Conroy, district returning officer at the Oct. 6 elections. Crown attorney F. L. Malone and Max Aiken, defence counsel, declared police court had no jurisdiction to try the man under the elections act.

Best Honey Mart At Home, Says Mullen

CALGARY, Oct. 29—Members of the Alberta Beekeepers' Association, in convention here yesterday, were told by Hon. D. B. Mullen, Alberta minister of agriculture, "your home market is the best market."

He advised the beekeepers to keep the best of their products for the home market and the surplus, of lower grade honey, for export.

President Kerr To Attend Convocation At Saskatchewan

President W. A. R. Kerr, of the University of Alberta, will attend the special convocation of the University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon Friday, Oct. 29, to deliver a special congratulatory address on the installation of Dr. James S. Thompson, as the new president of the Saskatchewan university.

Dr. Thompson is the second president of the University of Saskatchewan, leaving the position of professor of theology at Pinehill college at Halifax, Nova Scotia, to take the post, succeeding Dr. W. C. Murray, who retired his presidentship last summer.

In addition to the convocation address, Dr. Kerr will speak at a special congratulatory banquet to be held at the Bessborough hotel in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Thompson, being attended by the senate, the board of governors and other distinguished guests.

Nothing Taken As Safe Is Damaged

Amateur cracksmen who broke into the premises occupied by the Dauphin Flour and Feed at 8117 101 street Thursday night, secured no loot, police reported here Friday.

They said that thugs, apparently inexperienced, broke into the building, and using a small hammer and crowbar, broke the combination off the safe door. The safe was unlocked at the time, they said. It was used only to hold books of the company to protect them from fire. Investigations are being made by Detective H. H. Morrow.

Fear Psychology Blamed For Unrest

OTTAWA, Oct. 20—Fear psychology was the element most responsible for world unrest today, Dr. R. J. Manion, former minister of railways, told the Life Underwriters' association here yesterday. Uncertainty as to future securit had induced revolutions in other countries and this fear was strong in Canada today.

Canada has solved the problem of production but so far the problem of distribution was unsolved.

Each of the seven stars of the Big Dipper surpasses the sun, from 15 to 90 times, in luminosity.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from Merrick Drug Stores, or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

BRITISH SHIP IS FREED BY REBEL CHIEF

LONDON, Oct. 29—The admiralty announces the British freighter Stanray, captured by an insurgent Spanish trawler in the Bay of Biscay, has been released.

The announcement said the insurgent admiral freed the 880-ton ship after commanders of the destroyers Electra and Escort pointed out she was outside Spanish territorial waters when stopped.

Despatches to Lloyd's said the Stanray was fired on and halted about 3½ miles off Aviles, Asturian port captured by the insurgents last week.

Beloved Pair Feted On 50th Wedding Day

With their daughter, Mrs. W. F. Dalton and Mr. Dalton home from New York this fall just in time to celebrate the twenty-third anniversary of their wedding among their Edmonton friends, and with acquaintances on both sides of the river feting them recently on the occasion of their own golden wedding anniversary, 1937 has been an eventful year for Mr. and Mrs. A. Penfold, beloved old couple who make their home at 8941 84 avenue.

HERE FOR 26 YEARS

Twenty-six years it is since they took up residence in Bonnie Doon and in that time they have won a definite place in the affections of the community. Warm congratulations which were extended to them, the gifts of which they were made recipients and the parties arranged in their honor for their anniversary were tokens of the esteem in which they are held.

Members of their bridge club (they both still take active interest in social activities), entertained for them; Mrs. George Makepiece entertained in their honor at a delightful affair in her St. Albert Road home and, on Thursday afternoon, fellow members of the Sussex Fellowship surprised them at a happy party in their home.

SUSSEX FELLOWSHIP ENTERTAINS

On the last occasion, Mrs. W. H. Petherbridge, wife of the Fellowship president, poured tea, while Mrs. D. Riddell assisted with general arrangements. Present were, besides Mrs. Petherbridge and Mrs. Riddell, Mrs. F. Field, Mrs. W. R. Pattman, Mrs. H. Gutteridge, Mrs. A. Glazier, Mrs. C. A. Russell, Mrs. H. C. Cable, Mrs. W. H. Noakes, Mrs. J. R. Hope and Mrs. I. Rowe.

Married half a century ago at a little Anglican church in Sussex, England, Mr. and Mrs. Penfold came to Edmonton 26 years ago when they took up residence in Bonnie Doon.

Mrs. Dalton, of New York, the former Minnie Penfold of Edmonton, is their only daughter.

Slender Lines Emphasized In Current Styles

PARIS, Oct. 26.—The current preference for snugly-fitting dresses is making stringent demands on the feminine figure.

PRINCESS LINES

This explains the popularity of clothes cut "princess" style. But while the couturiers are doing their part to suggest a flowing, harmonious line, it is gratifying for those women whose figures lack the required resilience to know that corset-makers are in tune with the exacting trend of contemporary fashion.

Couturiers are trying hard to make things easier for us all, thus slimness is emphasized by well-devised pleats, by contrasting fullness at the bust and hips, and by drapes slanting obliquely.

With regard to evening dresses, one designer obtains fullness by the use of panels, pleated or gathered. Another superimposes in front a kind of apron panel, made of less heavy material, and yet another achieves the effect of length by means of a short, bouffant bodice and small puff sleeves.

EMPIRE STYLING

The latter's gowns are accurate empire: high-waisted velvets, cautiously gathered in front, and delicately pleated mousse-lines de soie.

Getting in and out of these clinging dresses has its hazards. One stylist fastens many of her gowns with a lacing of ribbon, starting at the back of the neck and ending at a gathered flounce. A French designer revives the rows of tiny buttons which garnished so many tury. Other couturiers depend on clothes at the end of the last cen- zippers, both apparent and concealed.

Between Lectures

Would-be Thespians at the university are in their element this week. The inter-year plays are about to go into production, the plays and directors having been chosen, and tryouts being held during the past few days. Inter-class rivalry is not confined alone to sporting activity for in the realm of dramatics each class puts forth their bid to try and capture the coveted J. T. Jones shield, emblem of dramatic superiority.

A sparkling one-act play, "The Vise," is the entry of the senior class and directed by Miss Edith Spencer, clever actress at the university, they have hopes that with this play they will retain the shield captured last year.

"Happy Journey," directed by Mr. George England, who won laurels with his acting in the spring play last year, is the production which the junior class has chosen for their entry in the competition.

The sophomore class has several plays in mind but as yet have not definitely decided on one, while the freshman class has chosen "The Flattering Word" in hopes of winning the shield. Mr. Bruce Rankin, who is a brilliant and talented actor, will direct his class efforts.

The date for the competition has been set for the evening of Friday, November 19, in Convocation hall. Three appointed judges will be on hand to determine the "best actor," "best actress" and "best play," while a popular vote of the audience is also taken.

INTERESTING DEBATE

On Monday evening the Debating society will hold the spotlight when it presents the Australian debate on the subject, "Resolved, that Patriotism is Out of Date." The affirmative side of the resolution will be taken by Mr. R. W. Wilmot, B.A., L.L.B., and Mr. A. L. Benjamin, L.L.B., of the University of Melbourne, while Alberta debaters, Mr. Burt Ayre and Mrs. Lloyd Hutton, will argue on the negative side.

"Y" Places 74 Girls In Past Month

Seventy-four girls were placed during the past month, 95 trains were met and 85 persons assisted, it was reported when the Board of Directors of the Y. W. C. A. met on Wednesday afternoon.

In the health education department 255 are registered for gym and dancing classes, and in the swimming there are 136 seniors and 230 juniors. Eighty swimmers are being sent to the "Y" pool by the I. O. D. E. and are supplied with instructors, lifeguards and showers by the "Y."

More than 7,000 meals were served in the cafeteria during September and in the residence and annex there are 213 registered guests. Mrs. J. Fraser Smith, convener of the Religious Education committee, is now holding the Vesper Service on Sunday, and it was announced that the annual Y. W. C. A. Week of World Fellowship will be held from November 14 to 21 and the regular "Y" church service will be held in McDougall church.

Those present at the meeting were Mrs. Norman Allin, Mrs. J. Clarke, Mrs. J. E. Carmichael, Mrs. J. L. Duncan, Mrs. Geo. W. Elliott, Mrs. F. G. Forster, Mrs. J. R. Fryer, Mrs. Thornton Graham, Mrs. F. V. Hollands, Mrs. M. A. McIntrye, Mrs. F. C. Sterling, Mrs. H. W. Sterne, Mrs. G. E. Story, Mrs. A. S. Tuttle, Mrs. E. P. Wellwood, Mrs. F. R. Bore and Mrs. A. Fraser Duncan.

Girl Guides Review Work Of Past Year

Presenting the various reports of commissioners and guiders, the South Edmonton Division Girl Guide Association held their annual meeting on Thursday evening in Knox church. Mrs. E. C. Pardee, provincial commissioner was present at the meeting which was presided over by Mrs. S. H. Gandier, the retiring divisional commissioner of the organization.

Reports were given by Mrs. P. S. Warren, secretary, Mrs. F. C. Hales, treasurer, Mrs. G. D. Lockerbie, badge secretary and by the guiders, the officers of each of the 18 companies. Mrs. E. W. S. Kane presided while Mrs. Gandier gave her report.

Commissioners elected for the districts A, B, and C were Mrs. E. W. S. Kane, Mrs. Alexander Frame and Mrs. E. W. T. Henry of Fort Saskatchewan. Mrs. Harold Hall was elected secretary of district A, while Mrs. A. E. Anderson was elected secretary of district B. The executive for the coming year consists of Mrs. Vernon Pearson, Mrs. Frederick Jenkins and Mrs. I. F. Morrison.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Gandier was the recipient of two lovely travelling bags presented to her on behalf of the organization.

Mrs. J. F. Noble is at present visiting in Calgary for a few days, en route to Vancouver where she plans to spend the winter. While in Calgary she is the guest of Mrs. Wallace McKay.

the social round . . . . .

OH NOW, Mr. Nathan, don't be so skeptical! George Jean Nathan, jeering at the movies some time ago, expressed his annoyance at the fact that "no country girl ever wears shoes and stockings; Wall Street men always receive news that they have lost their fortunes while their wives are giving balls, and no man ever appears in his club save in evening clothes." "In all card games," he went on, "someone cheats. In all fights in western dance halls, the lamp is broken. All evil plots in Russia are hatched by the Grand Duke Boris (assisted by an adventuress named Olga) and are ultimately set at naught by an artist named Serge.

"All women powdering their faces before boudoir mirrors suddenly behold in the mirrors, to their wide-eyed horror, the villain entering the room.

"All hallways contain grandfathers' clocks. The only periodical ever to be found on the library tables in fashionable English country houses is Photoplay Magazines."

—Agreed. And in all audiences there is someone with a nasty analytical mind which cannot accept a picture for the enjoyment it gives at the moment, but delve into it to find its flaws. "Specks on the sun," Mr. Nathan, "specks on the sun."

Curling

ALBERTA AVENUE

Plans were made to hold a bridge party on Tuesday, November 9, when a general meeting of Alberta Avenue Ladies' Curling club was held recently. The affair will be held in the Gas Utilities auditorium at half-past two o'clock, and all members making up tables are asked to telephone Mrs. C. R. Cameron at 71254.

A bingo party was also planned for Friday, November 26, in the Alberta Ave. Community hall. Anyone wishing to join the club is asked to telephone the secretary, Mrs. S. Lee, at 72257.

Leaving To Reside In Vermilion

MRS. S. H. GANDIER

who is pictured above in her official blue and white guide uniform, last evening at the annual meeting of the association resigned her position as Commissioner of the South Edmonton Division Girl Guide Association, prior to moving to Vermilion shortly where she and Mr. Gandier will make their home in the future. Coming to Edmonton five years ago, Mrs. Gandier took active interest in Girl Guide activities and her qualities for leadership led almost immediately to her appointment of commissioner of Girl Guides for the South Side. Further acknowledgement of her service was made later when the work of guiding in the city was divided into two parts and she was named divisional commissioner of Edmonton South. Mrs. Gandier was the recipient of two lovely travelling bags, presented to her last evening at the annual meeting of the South Side division.

Mothers Must Not Forget The Powder Puff

By HELEN WELSHIMER

Every mother should own a powder puff! It is important that a mother watch the looking glass as it is that she keeps her eye on the biscuits. Small boys and girls love pretty, well-groomed mothers . . . mothers of whom they can be proud when their second grade classmates come to play hide-and-go-seek or three-deep.

It is fine when the mother has a plate of ginger cookies with which to entertain the young visitors, but it is twice as much to her advantage when she has a clean house dress, a smile and well-brushed hair.

LIKE PRETTY MOTHERS

Children, as it happens, do not understand that making ginger cookies is an art, while everyone can be well-groomed. They know only that they wish their mothers were as pretty as their teachers; that they wish their mothers sat down sometimes instead of working continuously and complaining about how tired they are; that they wish their mothers weren't always canning pickles or raspberries or doing the ironing.

Unfair of the children, you may say. When there is work it has to be done and no woman makes herself a drudge because she wants to. Certainly not. But some women make themselves martyrs because they want to. They choose to be Marthas when the role of Mary is both easier and happier.

Neat rooms, white curtains, polished floors—not for one minute would I deprecate the value of any of them. However, when a woman must choose between a scrubbed rug or a story hour, she is selling her birthright for a mess of spinach if she lets the human appeal go unanswered. When there are occasions on which she can not answer her children's spiritual needs because of overwhelming physical obstacles, she is worthy of supreme sympathy.

KEEPS INTERESTED

A woman not only increases her child's admiration for her when she enters his mental and spiritual life—and that does not mean that she has to understand anything about the calculus he is studying—but she retains her own interest in people and events, which assists her in remaining a person as well as a mother.

Therefore, it is with genuine approbation that Mrs. James Richard Smith, of Claremont, California, was greeted recently as the choice of the Golden Rule Foundation for the "American Mother of 1936". Fifty-three years old, the mother of six children, tall, full-figured, silver-haired, smiling and serene, she is an illustration of a woman who took care of her family on $60 a month, kept her sense of humor and her complexion, and never failed to nurture her children's ideals and ideas.

Milady Will Blossom Out in New Floral Accessories This Fall

Acorn Corsage Is Realistic in All Detail

Strips of glittering wheat-shaped sequins are used to fashion a new and handsome hair band, left, for formal coiffures. It comes in gold or silver. Tiny pink rosebuds and dainty blue forget-me-nots on silver ribbon, right, make a bracelet and matching hairband for a small girl.

A bracelet of velvet Russian violets, top, in deep rich shades of purple on a velvet cord springwire is as versatile as it is charming. Wear it on your arm, around your neck or around your head, tiara-fashion. The acorns in the chic boutonniere, below, look and feel like the real ones.

NEW YORK.—Gay little bunches of flower fancies to wear on lapels of fall suits, at necklines or waists of suave dresses, in your hair or on your wrists come in arresting colors and are made of unexpected materials. This is a season to blossom out in new blossoms—as interesting and important as belts, scarfs, costume jewelry and other accessory gadgets.

OF CORK

New York's outstanding designer of artificial flowers shows a lovely array of cork boutonnieres. One of these has seven or eight small flowers of natural cork, green leaves and stems and looks handsome on a tweed suit or a brown wool dress. He makes use of felt, too, cutting small petals from vari-colored pieces of felt and grouping them interestingly with green felt leaves.

Velvet is a favorite, of course—but there's nothing, of course, about the rich dark colors of some of the velvet boutonnieres. A single velvet tiger lily, for example, in a beautiful shade of shell pink, hat dots in a richer, deeper tone.

FLORAL BRACELET

Also in velvet is a brand new floral bracelet—rich purple violets on a green velvet cord spring wire. This, when spread out, covers a sizable portion of the forearm. And it can be worn around the neckline of a high-throated dress or on an evening coiffure.

Flowers for tiny tots have been glorified and dramatized too. Your small daughter can wear a bandeau of pink rosebuds and blue forget-me-nots on silver metal ribbon around her curls the next time she goes to a party. Some bandeaux of this type are teamed up with matching bracelets.

For evening, there are perfectly gorgeous sprays, bands and clusters. The newest has wheat-shaped beads of shining sequins on a metal cloth band. Dainty and fragile, this holds your hair in place, is most decorative and especially nice with a sheath-like gown. (You look like a slim Grecian column with a sheaf of wheat on top.)

WHITE GARDENIAS

A row of snow-white gardenias is made of a special composition which looks and feels like fresh blossoms. A cluster of acorns, in rich brownish tones, has the same texture.

Do shop for flowers as carefully as for bags and gloves. The right boutonniere often will turn a so-so dress into a creation of glamor, but the wrong one or too much of the right one will do exactly the opposite. Don't be over-enthusiastic, choosing a floral bracelet, necklace, tiara and corsage to wear with a single dress. This is a season when the simple frock with one, and only one, striking feature is smartest.

Nice on a tailored suit or a wool dress is the corsage of cork flowers at top. This comes in natural cork with colored centres and in various bright shades. The felt boutonniere, centre, is lovely on a tweed coat or suit. Colors are yellow, red, blue, white. The single tiger lily, below,—smart on any lapel—is pink velvet with spots in a deeper shade of pink.

Your Children

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Occasionally a teacher has a child in her room who puzzles and annoys her. This girl or boy does not conform to rule. Not that the child resents rules, but, simply behaves as though there were no rules in the world at all.

The teacher can understand the deliberately defiant one, and take measures to win him over or use such disciplinary measures as seem best, but in the case of complete indifference, she is at a loss to know what to do.

O. R. Barton

First of all she should not look at the child too personally and blame him. He is far more unfortunate than she is, even with her worry and extra trouble. Perhaps he comes from a home were he has either been over-disciplined and therefore thinks that school is a picnic, or allowed to grow up completely untrained from infancy, and cannot begin now to absorb the meaning of responsibility.

MAY BE NATURAL LACK

Again it may be that natural instincts are lacking, such as pride, accomplishment, ownership and the need of approval, all pointing healthfully toward self. And natural inhibitions may be wanting, too. Every normal person develops these inhibitions to a certain extent in himself. In short, here is a problem child, who may be a problem as a result of environment or heredity.

The teacher with several dozen other children to look after will not have time to do case work here. In a large city with specially trained instructors and psychiatrists to study out such problems, she can turn her bewildering pupil over to them. Otherwise there is little she can do about it. Every teacher has had these experiences and they are upsetting, especially when the child's family puts all the blame on her for not working the miracle they could not do themselves.

However, there are completely normal children who thus behave. They fool away their time, refuse to have any truck with lessons, play their hours away and disturb the class. This is usually a maladjusted child whose whole home training has conspired to set him against not only rule, but people in general. We think of them as being mean and defiant, but not always. Often they are as pleased as a May morning. And thus they fool us.

I have found friendship a wonderful thing in such cases. If the teacher has time, she might cultivate this child along lines completely removed from lessons and school. A sense of being sought out and cared for reaches to great depths in the child's heart. And hearts rule minds, strange as it seems. If a feeling of allegiance can be established between child and teacher, it will often prove to be the instrument through which pride and all the rest may enter. If possible, it is worth trying.

Jail Gate Romance Cheated By Death

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 29.—Death has intervened to shatter Eleanor Singleton's hope that jail terms she and Norman Cushman were serving would end at the same time so they could meet one another again as soon as they were at liberty.

Serving two years in Kingston penitentiary on a chicken stealing charge, Cushman died in the prison hospital, London police officials have been informed. Miss Singleton and Cushman were members of a trio arrested in London in December, 1936, and sent to jail for theft.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young man 28 years old, engaged to a girl of 24. All would be well except for the girl's mother, who bawls us out if we go to a movie or take a walk and are not at home by 11 o'clock, and who asserts that as long as her daughter is under her roof she must do exactly as she is told. She objects to our marriage on the ground that her daughter must stay with her and continue turning over all of her salary to her for several years more. What troubles me is that if we marry my mother-in-law would do everything in her power to break up our home and cause a split-up. If that is what is to happen it would be better for us not to marry. I love this girl dearly, but if her mother is going to continue to dictate to us after our marriage, I am just about ready to call it off and quit.

YOUNG MAN.

Answer:

And a son of Solomon you would be if you did, unless you manage to settle your prospective mother-in-law's goose before the marriage. You would certainly be in for trouble and a-plenty of it with that sort of a vicious tyrant meddling in your affairs and trying to boss you as well as your wife.

Of course, it is easy enough to see what the greedy lady is up to. Her game is to break off your engagement and not let her daughter marry you or any other man because she wants the girl's pay envelope. There are plenty of mothers who regard their daughters as nothing but slaves who must work to give them the comforts and luxuries they crave. They keep their girls from marrying so as to keep them in peonage by preaching to them about their duty to Mother, or else, as in your case, by making things so unpleasant for the young men who come a-courting that they drive them away.

The solution for your problem is in the girl's hands and it depends upon how much strength of character she has. If her mother has beaten her down until she is just a mush of compliance, with no will of her own, so that she will always do what Mother says and let Mother dominate her as long as she lives, you will be well advised to break off the engagement and leave her to Mother. You will find no happiness in playing second fiddle to your wife's mother and in a home that your wife's mother runs. No man enjoys having to perpetually kowtow to mother-in-law.

But, if the girl has courage enough to defy her mother and assert her right to live her own life, to handle her own money, to come and go as a free, intelligent, respectable adult woman is privileged to do, and to marry the man of her choice, then you can safely go on with the wedding. Her mother will have to accept the fact that daughter is grown up and is entitled to all the privileges and emoluments pertaining thereto, and after many tears and reproaches and rows she will at last realize that she must keep her fingers out of her daughter's pies.

But you are a farsighted young man in taking your prospective mother-in-law into consideration when you pick out a wife. She will either make or mar your marriage.

DOROTHY DIX.

Heavy Breakfasts Are Worth All The Weight

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

The first day of next week will be the first day of the month—certainly a fitting time for a resolution. The Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, has a suggestion. Make your cold weather breakfasts the kind that stick. Despite the American city habit of eating very light breakfasts, the specialists insist that an adult's breakfast should contain from one-fourth to one-third of his day's food needs. For children, breakfast should always be one-third of the day's food allowance.

The Department of Home Economics suggests fruit, hot cereal with top milk, toast with butter, and a drink of whole milk for the school child's breakfast. Add a strip of crisp bacon or an egg once in a while. The adult will want some other main dish beside the cereal, such as a little meat, creamed fish, eggs or special muffins. And he will use coffee or some other hot beverage in place of milk. But breakfast for both adults and children can run along practically the same path, with minor variations.

USE WHOLE GRAIN CEREALS

Hot cereal can be one of the biggest bores in the world, or one of the most agreeable cold weather breakfasts. Cook it long enough to bring out its rich flavor and add enough salt. Whole grain cereals are the best buy because they also contain the germ portion, which is rich in food value. Try combining two or more kinds of cereal and cooking them together. You will be surprised at this delicious method of avoiding monotony.

Oatmeal, ½, cracked wheat ¼ and prepared bran ¼ makes a pungent "top-of-the-morning" greeting. Serve it with the newly introduced raw brown sugar crystals and light cream. It is really something to remember fondly right through the busy day.

Fried apples for breakfast with crisp bacon is another combination with which to start the day smiling. For a family of from four to six, pare and cut into cubes enough tart winter apples to make two quarts. Fry your bacon in a heavy skillet and remove when done and keep warm. Leave four tablespoons of the drippings in the skillet. Turn in the apples and sprinkle ¼ cup raw brown sugar over them. Cover and cook slowly until tender. Remove cover, turn apples gently and brown on other side. Serve on hot platter surrounded with the crisp bacon.

LEISURELY SUNDAY BREAKFAST

Sunday morning breakfast should be a bit more elaborate. If you live in New England, Saturday night's baked beans and codfish balls will appear for Sunday special; in Virginia, there are likely to be creamed sweetbreads with waffles. And no matter where you live, there can always be pop-overs and clear, delicate crabapple jelly for that very pleasant custom of the more leisurely Sunday morning breakfast.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas and cream, mixed hot cereal, fried apples with bacon, muffins, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Creamed sweetbreads, waffles, fruit salad, tea, milk.

DINNER: Prune and grapefruit juice, veal cutlet, tomato sauce, mashed potatoes, 8-minute cabbage, lemon meringue pie, coffee, milk.

IT IS NOT TRUE THAT DIAMONDS NEVER WEAR OUT
10-29

Because the diamond is so very hard that it will cut glass and many other hard substances, most people believe that it never wears away. This is quite incorrect, for men who work in fine glass engraving establishments will tell you that the diamonds they use are constantly wearing out and have to be replaced. Under daily use in such work a diamond may last as long as six weeks. Even diamond rings worn on our fingers are subjected to considerable wear over a number of years, as any jeweler will tell you.

ITALY TAKES TROOPS FROM SPAIN, REPORT

Reliable Source Says 40,000 Figure Now Probably Near Correct

LONDON, Oct. 29—Havas News Agency today stated it learned from usually reliable sources that Italy had made "wholesale withdrawals" from its troops with the insurgent Spanish forces in advance of arrival in Spain of the international commission to be sent by the non-intervention committee.

Belief grew here, Havas said, that these withdrawals made the 40,000 figure given by Rome as the strength of its men in Spain "more or less exact."

DEMAND SHOWDOWN

The despatch added that Italy, supported by Germany, will demand a "showdown" with Soviet Russia at tomorrow's meeting of the non-intervention subcommittee, according to predictions in diplomatic circles.

The main difficulty in sight was Moscow's refusal to sanction accordance of belligerency rights to the Spanish combatants until all foreign troops were withdrawn.

RUSSIA OPPOSED

The plan endorsed by the other powers last Tuesday called for belligerency recognition upon a "substantial" evacuation, with the commission deciding when that had been accomplished.

It was reported Russia had irrevocably announced its refusal to continue its payments to help meet the cost of non-intervention.

JAPAN READY TO PARLEY ON PEACE TERMS

Highly Placed Source Discloses Minimum of What She Expects

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Oct. 29.—A high Japanese source disclosed to the Associated Press today what were said to be the minimum conditions on which Japan was willing to negotiate peace in China.

This informant suggested interested powers start conversations looking toward an armistice, which he indicated the Japanese would like before intense winter cold begins in certain sections of China.

FRIENDLY MOOD

Japan, he said, was disposed to accept friendly conversations on peace in China and suggested the nine-power conference on the Chinese-Japanese war called for Brussels November 3 might give interested nations a mandate to sound out the Japanese and Chinese governments on their minimum terms. The Japanese terms were said to be:

1—Temporary occupation by Japan of China's five northern provinces;

2—Creation of a neutral zone about Shanghai from which Chinese troops would be excluded and in which order would be maintained by an international police force of Japanese, British, United States, French and Italian troops.

These terms, the Associated Press was informed, represented the views of Japanese diplomats in Europe and presumably those of the Tokyo government, although the views of Japanese army leaders were not ascertained.

MAINTAIN ARMIES

The significant point of the Japanese attitude as understood here was that Japan intended to keep her armies on a line to the south of China's five northern provinces. The frankly-admitted object of this was to prevent Russia from sending troops to China through Mongolia.

The statement of the Japanese attitude was considered important because it is known several delegations are going to Brussels with the idea of trying to determine the minimum terms Japan would exact and the maximum conditions China would accept.

The official Japanese view here is that it would be difficult to negotiate a Far Eastern peace from Brussels and the beginnings of peace could only be discussed at Tokyo and Nanking.

The Japanese authority broached the idea of peace negotiations being opened simultaneously at Tokyo and Nanking.

Other interested powers than Britain and the United States, according to Japanese here, were France and Italy who would be expected to take part in the conversations.

ISSUE STATEMENT

The following authorized statement on Japan's position was given to the Associated press:

"Japan refuses to participate in the Brussels conference for reasons already known, but that does not mean Japan will not accept conversations with the principal powers interested.

"Evidently, Japan has a strong desire to bar the route in northern China against penetration of the Komintern (the Communist International with headquarters at Moscow) and to work amicably with the Chinese.

"But as long as it is necessary to take measures to assure these things, evacuation of Japanese troops from northern China is impossible. However, that does not mean Japan has territorial designs on that region or that she seeks to create an independent state like Manchukuo.

"On the contrary, Japan desires to collaborate with the Chinese, Americans and Europeans because Japan's national economy imposes the necessity for keeping open Chinese markets."

Neck Broken, Bears Child

Her head fixed in a harness, Mrs. Mrtle Arrington (inset) of Woodbridge, Va., is shown resting comfortably in Alexandria hospital, Alexandria, Va. The nurse is pictured with the healthy, 9-pound daughter, to which Mrs. Arrington gave birth less than a week after her neck had been broken in an auto accident.

Oil for Clicking Jaws Discovered by Science

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—A new "oil" for the jaws, which has no effect on conversational powers, but prevents dislocations, and the "clicking" of jawbones that bothers millions, was reported to the American College of Surgeons today.

The "clicking" occurs at the joints of the jaw in front of the ears. Many children suffer from it. It is not uncommon for a child and sometimes an adult, sleeping with mouth wide open, to wake up and be unable to close it. In some cases this looseness of the jaw leads to easy dislocations.

L. W. Schultz, M.D., and Walter Shriner, M.D., reported a remedy—sodium psylliate. This is a compound made of psyllium seed which grows in India and heretofore widely used for digestive troubles. Under chemical analysis the Indian seed shows large quantities of mucilage. It is lacking in harmful alkaloids.

When injected hypodermically into clicking jaw sockets, the physicians reported, the oil sets up a low grade inflammation. The result is a tendency to tighten the jaw joints. This better fit works so well, they said, the jaws of susceptible persons no longer dislocate easily after the treatment.

SOLLOWAY, MILLS LOSE APPEAL IN M'LAUGHLIN CASE

LONDON, Oct. 29—The judicial committee of the privy council today dismissed the appeal of I. W. C. Solloway and Harvey Mills of Toronto against J. P. McLaughlin in an action against the brokers in respect of the purchase of mining stock.

Mr. McLaughlin's cross-appeal was allowed and the judgment in the Ontario courts of Mr. Justice Kerwin dated June 13, 1933, restored.

Their lordships ruled that the respondents should have the costs of the appeal to the Ontario court of appeals and to the supreme court of Canada. The appellants also must pay the costs of the appeal and cross-appeal to the privy council.

The appeal was heard in July by Lords Atkin, Macmillan, Wright and Maugham.

Solloway, Mills and Co., and the partners of the firm, were sued by J. P. McLaughlin, Toronto, for $33,320, being the profit made by them on the sale of 11,800 shares of Sudbury Basin Miles Ltd. stock, given by Mr. McLaughlin to them as margin, and $28,637 paid by him to them on representation that the company had paid $48,937 for 7,000 shares of Sudbury Basin when, in fact, it paid only 20,000. These amounts he claimed together with brokerage charges and interests and $100,000 damages.

Pilot Is Forced Back By Snow

Freezing and snow turned back Pilot Jack Wright, Canadian Airways, in a flight from Yellowknife to Fort Smith, Thursday, it was reported by W. R. May, O. B. E., district superintendent.

Freeze-up is fast setting in on Great Slave lake and a snowstorm blowing from the western Peace river territory swept in on Fort Smith.

Police Court

Charge of reckless driving against Avery Danard was dismissed by Magistrate A. H. Gibson in police court Friday.

Witnesses testified that Danard had driven slowly across the high level bridge . . . so slowly that he help up traffic. They said that he swerved from side to side and that in front of the Administration building he suddenly swerved and sideswiped a car which was trying to pass him.

"Sure," said Danard. "Sure I was going slow. My car was shimmying badly and I had to go slowly. It kept swinging and if I kept under 15 miles per hour it wasn't so bad. But even then it would shimmy, and then I would have to swing it to stop it shimmying. I didn't know it hit the other car."

"I believe you. Charge dismissed," said the cadi.

Harry Johnson, who pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy, was sentenced to serve six months in Fort Saskatchewan jail if he doesn't get out of town before noon Saturday.

Pleading guilty to a charge of selling the license plates off his car, which incidentally are the property of the crown and only loaned to car owners for use during the year, Henry Fuchs was dismissed with a caution. He told the court he thought it was alright to sell the plates because he had sold the car.

The Inquiring Reporter

Although police patrols in the city and on the country highways have been bringing a steady stream of reckless and careless drivers and speeders into court, it was suggested the other day by a pedestrian who just escaped being run over by a car which disregarded a stop sign, that the work of the police might be made more effective if private individuals made it their business to take down the license numbers of traffic offenders and report them to the police.

"What do you think of this suggestion?" asked The Bulletin Inquiring Reporter.

RONALD PARSONS, engineer: Yeah, there you fellows go again; picking on the poor motorist. Personally I think there should be an open season on pedestrians. If the truth were known it would probably show that more accidents are caused by the carelessness of pedestrians than by careless drivers. How about making the pedestrians carry numbers?

FRED OSBORNE, boxing trainer: I think that it's a good idea. If motorists who dash past stop signs just because there doesn't happen to be a policeman standing on the corner knew that anyone of the pedestrians might report them they'd be a lot more careful.

MARIE STEPHANSKI, salesgirl: Sure, that sounds alright. The police can't be everywhere and private individuals could certainly check up on a lot of offenders. Some day they might even be able to do something about the mob milling around that bargain counter over there.

KENNY O'BRIEN, detective: Well, in cases where a person is obviously driving recklessly they could certainly be of service. But I am afraid that if they took themselves too seriously and began reporting minor offences that it might lead to confusion and trouble. Even a trained policeman makes mistakes in numbers and circumstances once in a while, but the average untrained person would probably make a great number of mistakes.

CECIL HEARN, truck driver: Just a minute, pal! Can't you just picture some smart guy standing on a corner, flagging down motorists who drove past stop signs and then saying, "Give me a buck and I won't tell the police." You want to think a little before you start hollering these bright ideas out loud. You're opening the door to a good racket.

Canada's 1935 exports of fish were valued at a total of $24,435,000.

SIX ALBERTA YOUTHS GOING TO EAST FAIR

Young Farm People Selected For Toronto Royal Winter Exhibition

Six Alberta young farm people will represent this province in competitions at the annual Royal Winter Fair, opening at Toronto on Nov. 16, it was announced on Friday by H. A. Craig, deputy minister of agriculture.

Selection of the six followed final tests held on Thursday at the University of Alberta, after elimination trials had been held at various points in the province.

THREE CLASSES REPRESENTED

Two representatives will be sent in each of three classes, the grain judging, beef judging and swine judging and Alberta hopes will be high that the young people will bring back championships from Toronto.

Winners in the grain judging competition were Albert Allsop and Lloyd Rigby of Wembley, members of the Grande Prairie Grain Club, who were coached in their work by G. S. Black, district agriculturist for the Grande Prairie district.

BEEF COMPETITION

The beef judging competition winning team consisted of Hugh Rigney of Bon Accord and William Blacklock of Rural Route No. 4, Edmonton, who were coached by W. G. Morris, Edmonton.

The swine judging winning team is Howard Fulcher of Millet and Robert Ferguson of Conjuring Creek, members of the Liberty Swine Club of Conjuring Creek, who were coached by J. Wyllie, district agriculturist for Leduc.

30 IN FINALS

The six young people will leave here in time to arrive at Toronto for the opening of the Royal Fair.

About 30 young people participated in the finals on Thursday and late in the afternoon gathered at the legislative buildings to hear the results.

DEFENCE GETS STATEMENT IN MURDER TRIAL

Deposition Previously Rejected Is Admitted In Calgary Hearing

CALGARY, Oct. 29.—Through the action of J. McKinley Cameron, K.C., defence counsel for Albert Farrar who is charged with murdering his father at their farm home 15 miles east of Olds, Alta., last July 28, a statement previously ruled as inadmissable was entered as crown evidence in the murder trial here yesterday.

The statement was given the day after Frederick Lester Farrar, the father, was shot. Mr. Justice W. R. Howson ruled Wednesday that it could not be admitted as evidence because the crown had failed to prove it was given voluntarily.

READS EXTRACTS

Yesterday Mr. Cameron asked permission to read extracts from the statement. He was told that if he did so, it would enable the crown to enter the whole statement as evidence. Mr. Cameron said he would take that responsibility.

One extract read by Mr. Cameron described the quarrel between father and son which led up to the shooting. Of the shooting itself, the statement said:

"I made a grab for the gun and jerked the barrel toward my father, the gun went off. I did not touch the trigger."

An attempt by C. E. Smith, K.C., crown counsel, to have entered a second statement made by Farrar two days after the shooting was refused by Mr. Justice Howson.

Mr. Smith announced that Charles Noble, assistant provincial analyst, would be the last witness called by the crown when the trial continues today.

NO POWDER BURNS

Mr. Noble told of tests he made in the University of Alberta rifle range and laboratories. He had not been able to find any powder burns on a piece of cloth, alleged to have been cut from around the bullet hole in the shirt Frederick Farrar wore when he was shot. He said parts of the shirt were saturated with human blood.

Mr. Noble said no powder marks were disclosed when he had fired shots from a distance of five feet into cloth similar to that in the shirt.

Rivetless Mine Sweeper Launched

DEVONPORT, Eng., Oct. 29—The mine sweeper Sea Gull, the first British warship without a rivet in her armor plate, was launched today. She is electrically welded throughout—a process developed in British naval shipyards.

250 Scientists to Chart Future of Quintuplets

TORONTO, Oct. 29.—Science will look at the Dionne quintuplets, study their physical and mental development and chart a course for their future in a unique week-end meeting of 250 child specialists, psychologists and students.

Fifty Americans are coming to Toronto for a Saturday gathering with Canadian specialists at which they will hear reports on the children's physical and mental development, discuss their future and offer suggestions to Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, their medical guardian.

Sunday the party will travel to Callander for a meeting with the Quints, now three years and five months old, and an inspection of the establishment housing the five famous youngsters.

Principal object of the Saturday gathering in Toronto is to hear papers by Dr. Dafoe and his brother Dr. W. A. Dafoe of Toronto, on welfare of the Quints and a report by Dr. W. E. Blatz, professor of psychology at the University of Toronto, on their mental development.

KETTI GALLIAN HAD FALSE START BUT NOW SHE'S STARDOM-BOUND

Petite French Actress, Who Formerly Left Fans Cold, Is Beginning To Go Over In Great, Big Way

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29.—Once upon a time a great movie studio imported a little French actress who had been attracting considerable attention in Europe. She spoke almost no English, and was completely bewildered by shadowland, its people and their methods. She was delighted, though frightened, to learn that she was going to be a movie star from the start — a glamor-girl, a haunting, exotic, languorous, esoteric creature of fire and tenderness, passion and compassion.

She wondered whether she could be all these things. "Don't worry," said her new bosses, "the publicity department will take care of that."

So a big campaign was launched. The French actress was told just how to behave, and what to say to interviewers. M[illegible] was taken to the [illegible] men and so cam[illegible] that every time [illegible] matter, she felt like ask[illegible] introduction to [illegible].

She had the leading [illegible] first picture, and it was a pretty good picture, too. But there seemed to be an undercurrent of resentment in the reception given her by fans. They took with a grain of skepticism the ballyhoo that was hurled at them. They said, "We dare you to make us like her."

This actress was not Simone Simon. She predated Mlle. Simon by two years. Her name was Ketti Gallian.

Miss Gallian [illegible] making a fresh start. Without fanfare. Without initial stardom. But it is a more auspicious beginning than that first experience. All Hollywood is talking about her. Fans like here and send an impressive amount of mail. Her studio has her in mind for the top spot in an important forthcoming picture.

Soon she will be seen in two new pictures, but in secondary parts. One is "Espionage," with Edmund Lowe and Madge Evans; the second is "Stepping Toes," in which she unsuccessfully competes with Ginger Rogers for the love [illegible] maybe the money of Fred Astaire, after chasing him across two continents.

"BURNED UP"

Most of the stories written about Miss Gallian tell how she heroically struggled with English and mastered it in three months. After three years, though, she still is at grips with our tricky language and still is taking lessons.

She has been asked not to sing French songs, read French books, or even go about socially with foreigners.

She goes about socially with a [illegible] of people. "When you are [illegible] love with anybody, or en[illegible] [illegible] the same boy," she said. [illegible]

[illegible] prompted [illegible]

[illegible] with the writers of [illegible] who have engaged me to at [illegible] men."

Miss Gallian [illegible] Nice. [illegible] convent in Italy just over the border from the French Riviera. After leaving the convent at 16, she joined her mother, who had opened a dressmaking shop in Nice. (Her parents were separated then.)

Today she is one of the best-dressed, or most strikingly dressed, actresses in Hollywood. But fashion didn't interest her at that time, so she went to Paris and kicked in the chorus of a big revue. Her name in those days was Katherine Gilliano.

Came an understudy job in a theatrical company. The star fell ill and Mlle. Gallian stepped into the role to become an overnight hit. That won her a place at the Paris Conservatory, where players for the national theatre are [illegible].

After a year she was engaged to go to London for the leading feminine role (there was only one feminine role) in a war play, "The Ace."

She learned the lines, if not the language. The play was a hit and ran eight months. A touring Hollywood executive, Winfield Sheehan, saw it and persuaded the actress to come to Hollywood.

She had the leading role in "Marie Galante," with Spencer Tracy, and in "Under the Pampas Moon," with Warner Baxter. Those two adventures in stardom spoiled her, she says.

After the glamor-girl publicity campaign subsided with a sickening thud, she found it hard to take lesser parts. She said "no" to so many offers that finally there were no more offers.

Miss Gallian, her mother and her secretary live in a house in Laurel Canyon. Her bedroom is done in pink mirrors. That's right—pink mirrors. She can't cook, doesn't like gardening, has no pets.

She never displays temperament at the studio because, she says, "it is very rude." But she blows off steam at home by yelling. They say you can hear her in Burbank.

BRANCH PLANTS FROM U.S. DOT CANADIAN MAP

American Capital Is Far Greater Than That Of British

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 29 — The penetration of United States industry in Canada, attributed to the desire of American manufacturers to obtain the benefits of the British Empire tariff preferences, is increasing, a survey by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Canadian Government statistical agency, reveals.

It is estimated that American manufacturers have established nearly 1,500 branch plants in Canada and the large majority of the $2,000,000,000 invested in plants in the Dominion by foreign manufacturers is owned by American interests. The American capital invested in Canada, it is revealed, by far exceeds British capital.

The American penetration in Canada is particularly pronounced in Ontario, because the province extends farthest south and is more contiguous to the large centres of American manufacturing.

DISTANCE FAVORS AMERICANS

Canadian economists, surveying the situation, find a great difference between the attitude of British and American manufacturers in locating in Canada. The former operates primarily under the disadvantage of long distance, whereas communication between American plants and Canadian subsidiaries is only a matter of minutes and the shipment of equipment, when urgently needed, is only a matter of hours. Moreover, the British manufacturer has an enormous home market, in addition to being favorably located for foreign trade in general and, being in the Empire, has all the fiscal preferences automatically.

When the American manufacturer attempts to enter the Canadian market, he encounters a tariff wall, and the only way he can overcome this impediment is by establishing a branch factory in Canada.

CANADIAN TRADE SOUGHT

It is not for the Canadian trade alone, however, that the American manufacturer is increasingly investing capital in Canada. He is also seeking the preferential advantages of British and Dominion trade agreements. American factories located in Canada are heavy exporters of various commodities, ranging from automobiles to toilet preparations, which go to Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. They enter those countries under the preferential tariffs, which are low in comparison with customs duties if exporting directly from the United States.

Customs regulations, however, provide for [illegible] degree of Canadian content of labor and materials as a qualification. For example, after next March the Canadian content of motor cars must be 65 per cent or else the great advantage accruing from scores of parts being admitted free will lapse.

The American branch industry has readily assimilated itself into the Canadian industrial structure, and, in places, it is actually a dominent factor. It has a large voice in the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and, curiously, it commonly combats moves to lower the tariff against the United States even if this would benefit the parent industry. Free access to the Canadian market would modify the necessity of Canadian branch plants, even though it is only through them that the Empire preferences are available.

SOME OPPOSITION MANIFEST

The penetration of American industry into Canada has aroused opposition in some sources. The development is particularly opposed by the Socialistic Co-operative Commonwealth Federation party, which holds that the operation of these companies in the Dominion is "a real menace to Canada."

J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the party, recently accused Prime Minister Mitchell F. Hepburn, whose opposition to John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization is constructed in some quarters as an invitation for American industries to locate in the province, of permitting American companies to organize in the province and operate under lower wage scales.

"Wherever there are gold, nickel or coal mines, automobile factories, or water powers controlled by American interests in Canada you should put up an American flag and then you would have no room for the British flag," he said. "Stand on guard for Canada if you want to have British industries established here."

Radio Directors Have Time Extended

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—Transport Minister Howe said today terms of office of three governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation which would have ended Nov. 2 have been extended for two years.

The three governors, Brig.-Gen. Victor Odlum of Vancouver, N. L. Nathanson of Toronto and Alan B. Plaunt of Ottawa, were appointed last year for one-year terms. The government's action in extending their terms will leave them in office for a total of three years.

U.S. Government Ponders 5-Day Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. — The civil service commission is trying to ascertain, at President Roosevelt's request, what increase in government costs would result from a five-day work week for all employees of the United States government.

Persons familiar with present conditions estimated about 380,000 to 400,000 of the 848,243 federal employees would be affected.

Winnipeg Airport Has $5,000 Blaze

WINNIPEG, Oct. 29. — Fire destroyed the repair and store shop of Wings Limited at Stevenson Field, Winnipeg airport, here yesterday, causing loss of an estimated $5,000 to $7,000, partially covered by insurance. Firefighters prevented the blaze from spreading to the company's hangar, filled with planes, 40 feet away.

STRIKERS HOLD VESSEL UNTIL DEMANDS MET

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 29—Striking lumbermen in the Baie Verte district were granted demands for increased wages after they had seized the Newfoundland government coastal steamship Argyle where union representatives and company officials were conferring, it was revealed here last night.

The loggers, 500 strong, went out on strike a week ago, demanding an advance of 50 cents a cord at the stump for cutting wood for Bowater Company of England. The former rate was $2 a cord.

Announcement yesterday afternoon said the strike had been settled and the men had received their increases. Later a telegram from Major Anderson of the Newfoundland Rangers (police) was made public, stating the loggers had held the Argyle, a government steamer under charter to Bowaters for an hour until their demands were met.

60 Families Are Ruling U.S. Book Declares

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—In a [illegible]-page book entitled "America's 60 families," published today, Ferdinand Lundberg, former Wall Street financial writer, asserts "The United States is owned and dominated today by a hierarchy of its 60 richest families buttressed by no more than 90 families of less wealth."

Lundberg's list, in order, are Rockefeller, Morgan, Ford, Harkness, Mellon, [illegible] McCormick, Baker, Fisher and Guggenheim.

[illegible] 60 and 90 families," he writes, "there are perhaps 350 other families, less defined in development and wealth, but accounting for most of [illegible] that do not accrue to members of the inner circle."

Ottawa Has Certified Photostat Of B.N.A. Act

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—If anyone wants to see a certified copy of the British North America act, Canada's constitution, [illegible] it on 21 loose photostat sheets at the public archives here.

The act was copied in the house of lords at London at the request of Dr. J. F. Kenney, acting Dominion archivist, after Alberta's Premier Aberhart said in a speech at Edmonton Sept. 6: "Nowhere can there be found the original copy of the British North America act—Canada's constitution."

Tonight Dr. Kenney said the copy was made on three sheets containing the record of single pages of the act and 18 containing that of two pages each, photographs of double pages of the original bound copy.

The copy is certified as a facsimile by the clerk of the parliament in the house of lords. Mr. [illegible] name and the copy was locked up.

FRY PLATFORM FLUB-DUBBERY COWPER SAYS

Not a Single Constructive Plank in it Candidate Tells Audience

Declaring that if the Edmonton mill rate was calculated on the same basis of assessment used by Calgary, it would be 107 mills instead of 54 mills, and adding that he knew of cases where the mill rate on small homes worked out at over 125 mills on the market value of the property, J. S. Cowper, Independent candidate for mayor of Edmonton, continued his series of addresses before an audience in Calgary Trail Community hall on Thursday night.

Still using the report of the city commissioners, some of which he said was open to the charge of being political propaganda for the bond interests, the speaker discussed the building statistics.

LAMENTABLE FACT

Out of the 787 building permits issued last, only 108 were for new homes, he said. A lamentable fact was that of the 108 new homes, about 80 per cent of them were for houses of a value less than $1,000.

"These people," said Mr. Cowper, "do not want to add to the shacks and hovels that our appalling condition of house shortage has brought about. They would like to have comfortable homes with sanitary and engineering conveniences. But because the mortgage and loan companies have declared a boycott for the past seven years against lending money for homes in the prairie provinces, these home-builders have to build for cash. Most of them have only $1,000 or less to build with.

GLORIFIED SHACKS

"They would gladly pay down $500 for a modern home to cost $2,500, paying off the balance at less than rent. They would like to have the comfort of a real home for themselves and their families. They would like to have the convenience of easy payments. But because the private companies will not lend, they are obliged to build glorified shacks or the first section of a house, in the hope of being able to complete it years later.

"All of this is bad for the city. It is bad for the people who can't get the kind of homes they want. It is bad for the unemployed who can't get the work they need. It is bad for the business houses of the city who don't get the business they should. It is worst of all for the municipality itself, which has to pay men to be idle on relief and is deprived of the taxation revenue that comfortable homes would make possible."

COMMISSION QUOTED

The speaker quoted the work of the Winnipeg Housing Commission which had loaned $2,880,000 raised by the sale of debentures. It had enabled 712 houses to be built. Every dollar had been safeguarded. Principal and interest had been repaid and, up till the end of last year, new taxation totalling $1,063,000 had been received by the city treasury. So successful had it been that Winnipeg is now embarking on a further $2,500,000 scheme

Dissecting Mr. Fry's platform he said there was not a single constructive plank in it. Most of it was just padding, and pious aspiration. Some of it was flub-dubbery, as when he pledged himself to enforce the minimum wage law, well-knowing that the province was solely charged with that task. Some of it was foolishness, as when he promised to put unemployed to work chasing the dust from the city streets. Some of it was plain duplicity, as when he pledged himself to refund the city's debt at lower rates of interest after helping fasten the Fortin Plan on the city, and saying he would do it with the guarantee of the provincial government—which is already in default for three-quarters of a million dollars of Alberta bonds in the city sinking fund.

MISLEADING PROMISE

"Most misleading of all," said Mr. Cowper, "is his promise to 'continue our present moderate low-cost housing program'. Moderate the program may be, but the nine single dwellings and five duplex cottages are not low-cost by any means. To get the advantage of low material and construction costs a large-scale scheme must be invoked. This 'moderate' program which requires four old people—sensitive and tenacious of their rights as old people are—to use a common kitchen, is well calculated to bring the city's scheme into discredit. No wonder that the representatives of the mortgage and loan companies, who do not wish to see the city embark on a municipal program under successful conditions are supporting Mr. Fry in his proposal to 'continue' the present ridiculous way of attacking the housing problem."

As Roman Catholic Clergy Gathered To Honor Bishop Nelligan

Paying signal honor to the leadership of Bishop Nelligan while he was vicar-general of the Edmonton diocese, members of the Roman Catholic clergy of Edmonton and the archdiocese feted the eloquent prelate at the Macdonald hotel Thursday noon just after he had been consecrated Bishop of Pembroke, Ontario. Above photo taken by The Bulletin shows the clergymen present at the luncheon, which was presided over by Most Reverend J. H. MacDonald, coadjutor archbishop of Edmonton. At the luncheon was a deputation representing the Pembroke diocese. The group included Very Rev. W. P. Breen, diocesan administrator; Rev. R. M. Clarke, secretary to the late Bishop Ryan of Pembroke; Rev. E. A. Lelang, of Temiskaming; Rev. John Ryan; Rev. J. A. French, of Eganville. Felicitations were brought to Bishop Nelligan on behalf of the archdiocese by Very Reverend Dean P. F. Harrington, of Camrose.

Mrs. W. C. Moraw Dies Thursday

A resident of Edmonton for the past 20 years, Beatrice Moraw, wife of W. C. Moraw of 11123 86 avenue, died in a city hospital, Thursday, October 28. Mrs. Moraw was born in Red Deer, 36 years ago, and came to Edmonton in 1917.

She is survived by her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Whittaker and one brother, John, all of Edmonton.

Funeral services will be held, Saturday, October 30, from the Foster and McGarvey funeral chapel, at 2:00 p.m. Rev. H. A. McLeod will officiate. Interment to take place in the Edmonton cemetery.

Taxpayers' Group Taking No Active Part In Election

The Edmonton Taxpayers Protective Association will take no active part as an organization in the forthcoming municipal election campaign, according to a resolution passed by the association at a meeting Thursday night in the North Side public library.

A second resolution urged support for the money bylaw providing for the construction of a $35,000 hangar at the Edmonton airport. The association takes the stand that burgesses should vote for the bylaw at the elections.

The association plans to continue its educational campaign this year with a view to lowering the tax burden on real property. In this connection, a brief will be submitted to the royal commission on taxation when that body sits in Edmonton. One of the main points in the brief will be the proposed reduction in taxation on property.

Mrs. Edith Mires, Of Busby, Dies

Edith Mires, wife of Herbert E. Mires of Busby, died in an Edmonton hospital Friday at the age of 30 years. She is survived by her husband and three sons, Carl-Ludwig, Horst and Eric, all of Busby.

Funeral service will be held Monday, November 1, from the Busby United church at 1.30 p.m. Rev. Mr. Burgbuch, assisted by Rev. Mr. Laird, will officiate. Interment to take place in Busby cemetery.

Foster and McGarvey, funeral directors, are in charge of arrangements.

Looking Them Over

Fine Finale

Aid for E.A.C.

Calgary Lineup

EDMONTON has seen its last game of National League hockey for the season and there are few fans who won't agree that the finale last night left a pleasant taste. It is true that Tuesday's game was slow for the first two periods, but it is also true that the ice that night was not the best and the players could not get going.

Lester Patrick explains this ice question like this. Even at the best artificial ice is never quite as fast as natural ice. On a warm evening the glassy top coat on the sheet is quickly cut through to a sugary sub-layer. This is what happened Tuesday here. Last night was cooler and the upper layer held better and gave the players the footing they needed.

However, Edmonton citizens need not fear that they have gotten a poor plant. Patrick declares that it is just as good as any on the continent and that even Madison Square Garden has exactly the same trouble on a warm night.

In discussing the present western exhibition tour of the Rangers and Americans, Patrick pointed out that a pre-season trip is the only sort that should be made. He condemned tours at the end of the N.H.L. season as a black eye for major league hockey.

"At that time all the players are breaking training. They are out for a good time and have no inclination to get down to hard hockey," he explained. "They look on exhibition trips as nothing more than a big party with the fans paying the shot and getting indifferent hockey in return.

"The situation is entirely different however in the fall. At this time the players are working hard to get into condition. They are all trying to make the best showing they can to insure getting a regular berth for the season. Personally, I am looking on this series as a real test of the men I am carrying. Their performances in these several games will have a lot to do with whether I keep them or not. There are no jobs that are absolutely sure on the Rangers yet."

The calibre of hockey played here by the Rangers and Americans back up Patrick's words. The boys weren't fooling about their chores. There seems to be no reason why this prairie exhibition series should not become a regular yearly event.

Patrick Guest at E.A.C. Dinner

LAST night Lester Patrick and Frankie Boucher were the guests of honor at a dinner given by the Edmonton Athletic Club at the Shasta. Both paid warm tributes to the work that the club was doing for sport, while Patrick gave the club some real encouragement by announcing that plans may be worked in the near future by which the Rangers will be able to give the E.A.C. some assistance. For the time being, he declined to make public the details.

The Ranger chief explained that his organization would be glad to lend a helping hand to some clubs in Canada who were trying to develop young [illegible] if any arrangement could be made to give the Rangers first [illegible] after they were produced. The N.H.L. rules at the present however are such that any club can grab off an amateur even if he has been [illegible] Ranger money. Patrick explained that a [illegible] way around the difficulty has been suggested and every effort will be made to work it out.

In course of his talk, he dealt with some of the inside workings of Madison Square Garden. The hockey ice is removed in 40 minutes from the time a game ends provided the place is to be used for some other attraction the next day. This is done by heating the brine flowing through the pipes under the ice, breaking it up with a tractor and pushing it out with another tractor.

The [illegible] for the Garden is $2,500 and from that figure the price [illegible] [illegible] winter New Yorkers [illegible]

Patrick Pucksters Have Edge in Fast, Rugged Hockey Tilt

Keen Ice Results In Faster, Better Game While Robertson, Kerr Do Fine Job In Nets; Large Crowd Out

By JACK KELLY

LESTER PATRICK'S Young Men of Manhattan handed Dutton's ageing Americans a 3-1 trouncing here last night in the final Edmonton game of their western Canada pre-season exhibition tour.

Throughout the game the Rangers appeared to have a decided edge over the Amerks in co-ordination, speed and condition. It was only the most sensational sort of net minding by Earl Robertson that kept the Patrick squad from hanging up at least half a dozen tallies.

With keener ice than for the first game here, both clubs were turning on the heat last night throughout the entire three periods. Fans, who turned out in almost as great a number as for Tuesday's clash, saw plenty of sparkling action for their money and a really fine example of National Hockey League play.

YOUTH TURNS TIDE

Last night it was the youth and fire of the Rangers that turned the tide in their favor. The Americans are mostly veterans of the big time ice wars and these old timers take a lot longer to get into condition than do youngsters. What is more, Dutton has rebuilt a lot of his machine this season and it will be some time yet before these new parts are properly co-ordinated with the rest.

Fifteen minutes of the first period had passed before the initial goal of the evening was scored. Mac Colville of Rangers turned the trick when he got the puck at centre ice with only the Amerk defence pair between him and the net. He shifted through them smartly and bored in on Robertson. The latter rushed, but Mac got his shot away in time and picked a corner of the net.

While the Rangers had the best of the play, the Amerks got through enough times to give Davie Kerr a busy session in the Patrick citadel. He saved brilliantly half a dozen times.

GOAL WAS CHEAP

In the second frame, the veteran line of Boucher, Murdoch and Keeling combined to give the Rangers a 2-0 lead. Boucher and Murdoch carried the play in on the American goal, but their goal-mouth pass was batted behind the net by an Amerk. Keeling whipped in after it and forked the rubber out with a flip. It hit the back of Robertson's pads and bounced into the rigging for a tally. It was a cheap one though.

The first penalty of the game was drawn by Lyn Patrick in this period when he started roughing up Jack Shill. The Americans promptly clamped on their power play, but it wasn't very impressive and failed to click.

Red Dutton undoubtedly made some pointed observations to his star spangled outfit between periods in the dressing room for they came out on the ice for the final frame in a really furious, go-get-them temper. Johnny Gallagher was the only one who got anything however. Play had been underway for just a little over a minute when he got the puck from a face-off and steamed down the right hand boards with the throttle wide open.

Syndicate Offers Bribe To Aston Villa Goalie

LONDON, Oct. 29.—An anonymous letter, purporting to come from a betting syndicate and offering Fred Biddlestone, Aston Villa goalkeeper, £1,000 ($4,950) to "throw" matches is being investigated by English football league authorities.

"It is our intention to bring about a few shock results, as it is our experience that shockers upset football coupons," the letter read. "For every match you lose we are prepared to pay £750 ($3,712.50) with £250 ($1,237.50) bonus. It is when the English cup-ties come round that we intend to reap a rich harvest with a few sensational results."

Biddlestone is not letting the [illegible] training for their [illegible] with Coventry City, one of the feature matches on Saturday's card.

NEW WRESTLE EVENT BILLED HERE TONIGHT

Team Wrestling Is Big Thrill For Memorial Hall Battles

Rated far ahead of the thrilling wrestle royal, team wrestling comes to Edmonton at the Memorial Hall tonight. It's the talk of the town this new event which, according to advance notices, packs more action than any sport exhibition.

Tonight's team wrestling will have Billy Spendlove and King Kong Clayton against Al Christopolis and "Speedy" Franks and all four grapplers are in the ring at once. The rules are if a member of either team is felled for a regulation fall it is counted as a fall against that team. The grapplers rest one minute and continue and the falls are worked on a best-three-of-five basis. Also it's an eight ten-minute round affair.

Besides team wrestling, which will be the main event, Promoter Mike Cutcher has booked good supporting bouts. In the semi-windup a newcomer will be featured. He is Young Hitler, the goose-stepping Nazi who also salutes upon entry to the ring. He is matched with the unforgettable Billy Shinall, and there is plenty of action promised in this bout.

A preliminary will have Emil Van Velzen against Oswald Eyford. This will be a joust of pure strength with little showmanship.

Action starts at 8:30 and it's ladies night again this Friday.

Dutra Recommends John Montague Turns Professional

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—Olin Dutra, former United States open champion, would like to see golf's erstwhile mystery man, John Montague, turn pro—purely in the interest of science.

"It would be mighty interesting to see how Monty fared in tournament play. Certainly that would be the acid test because the professional field is very fast."

Dutra doesn't belittle Montague's prowess.

"But I've never seen Monty shoot those sensational low 60 scores or knock birds off fences with golf shots," he said.

HOCKEY VETS QUIT

NEW LISKEARD, Ont., Oct. 29.—George "Boots" Lever and "Rusty" Hughes, minor league professional hockey players, announced they were through with playing and will take management and coaching duties with amateur teams in this district.

The Americans kept the power play on with redoubled efforts, but the Ranger defence system stood firm and Davie Kerr just couldn't be beaten. He stopped pucks with every part of his body except his eyebrows. It was an exhibition of goal tending that fans will not forget for a long time.

LAZZERI SIGNS WITH CHI-CUBS

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Tony Lazzeri turned his back on a dozen sparkling [illegible] with New York Yankees to start a new career in the National League with Chicago Cubs.

After an hour's conversation with Owner Phil K. Wrigley the solemn little Italian, second baseman and spark of the world champion Yankees' infield, signed a one-year contract as utility player and coach. As per custom in such matters nothing was revealed as to the terms of the contract, but Lazzeri, who drew an excellent salary with the Yankees, appeared satisfied.

According To Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson is conducting, through this column, a national examination of bridge players. Rate yourself by subtracting from 100 the points for each wrong answer.

By ELY CULBERTSON

Question 22 of the National Self-Rating Bridge Examination appeared yesterday. It was:

Question 22: Neither side vulnerable. You are South, the dealer. You hold:

♠A K 10 9 4 2 ♥A 7 ♦A K 6 ♣A 9

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
2 spades	3 clubs	Pass	3 hearts
3 spades	4 clubs	Pass	4 hearts

What call do you make now?

Answer: The best call to make now is a pass. Remember, your opening bid directed that the bidding be held open until you reached game, or until the opponents were doubled in a contract satisfactory to your team. You already have rebid your spades, and partner must realize that the only reason for your passing is to let him decide whether he prefers to double for penalties or to bid four spades. Thus your pass is absolutely forcing. (If you made this unusual type forcing pass add two points to your score as reward. If you took any other action, such as doubling or bidding four spades, take a one point demerit. If you bid four no trump over four hearts, take a three point demerit.)

TODAY'S QUESTIONS

Question 23: Both sides vulnerable. You are North, the dealer. You hold:

♠K 6 ♥K Q 8 3 ♦A J 7 4 ♣K 9 4

You bid one heart; next hand passes; your partner bids three clubs; next hand passes.

What call do you make now?

Question 24: Both sides vulnerable. You are South and hold:

♠A J 9 5 ♥J ♦K J 5 4 2 ♣9 7 4

Your partner dealt and the bidding proceeded.

North	East	South	West
2 hearts	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	?

What call do you make now?

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 club
Double	2 clubs	2 hearts	4 clubs
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	5 clubs
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

This hand is a beautiful example of how a keen declarer can "place" missing honors.

West opened the heart ace and continued with the ten, declarer ruffing. Obviously, with one heart trick already lost, the acute danger was that two diamond losers would be unavoidable.

Declarer led the ace, king, and jack of spades, ruffing the last with dummy's club jack. Declarer [illegible] West had started [illegible] of spades [illegible] that, for his takeout double and his later penalty double, West must have the diamond ace as well as the heart ace already shown. If he had had the diamond queen in addition, his total honor holding would have been too great to justify his original pass. Thus East was unmistakably marked with the diamond queen. Two rounds of trumps now were led and a low diamond was sent toward dummy. West naturally ducked and dummy's king was played. The heart queen was ruffed and another diamond led from the closed hand. Now the opponents were helpless. West could not put up the ace without dropping his partner's blank queen. He ducked and the queen won. But East could return only a spade or a heart, on either of which declarer could discard his own remaining diamond while ruffing in dummy.

E.A.C. Gridders Entrain Seeking Football Title

Led by Coaches Joe Dwyer and Dud Menzies, Edmonton Athletic club entrain tonight for Saskatoon where they meet the University of Saskatchewan Huskies in a sudden death final that has the Northwestern Football League championship at stake. The game is scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

At dress rehearsal the team was shifted around considerably owing to injuries to six starry players. In an effort to make up for the loss of "Buck" Kelly, Roy Gerlitz and John Easton, backfielders, Russ Rennie, end, and Frank Meakin and Jerry McPeake, linemen, coaches Joe Dwyer and Dud Menzies were forced to make several changes.

Ted Smith, Red McNicholl and Louis Rimstad, all newcomers to the club this week, will be taken along to fill in for the six absent stars. MacDonell, a 200-pound husky, will start at centre.

The complete team will be — halves: Sutton, Smith, Thexton, Cassault, Shandro, Stevens, Cuddy; quarter, Heath; centres: MacDonell, Karran; insides: McNicholl, Osler, Tonsi, Hart; middles: McNally, McGreevey, Rimstad; ends: Golden, Foster, Hardy.

Others making the trip will be Coaches Dwyer and Menzies, Manager Bob Bradburn, and Trainer Jack Morrow who is taking Joe "Boo" Baker's place. "Boo" is unable to get time off.

Salmonbelly Ace Awarded Boxla Cup

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Oct. 29.—Bill Wilkes, high scoring centre on New Westminster Salmonbellies, 1937 Mann Cup holders, last night was awarded the R. L. Maitland Cup. The award is made annually by the Intercity Box Lacrosse League to the player voted most valuable to his team and for sportsmanship and assistance to junior lacrosse.

Feather Fighters To Draw $40,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Petey Sarron, Birmingham, Ala., Syrian, and Henry Armstrong, Los Angeles negro, will usher in Mike Jacobs as boxing boss of Madison Square Garden tonight with a 15-round battle for the featherweight championship of the world.

Jacobs predicted his debut in the Garden would attract 16,000 customers and a "gate" of $40,000.

The majority of drivers in American automobile races prefer four-cylinder cars because the engines are less costly and are easier to take down and to assemble.

Cook's Barons Win Against Ramblers

WINNIPEG, Oct. 29.—Bill Cook's Cleveland Barons scored their second victory over Philadelphia Ramblers last night, winning 4-1 as the International-American Hockey League teams completed their exhibition series here. Barons won the first game 3-0.

The Barons will return next month to a new $1,200,000 arena erected by Cleveland Hockey, Inc. Builders are completing the structure for a dedicatory ice carnival Nov. 10 to 14.

Pittsburgh Beats Red Wings By 7-6

DETROIT, Oct. 29.—Pittsburgh Hornets of the International-American Hockey League overcame a three-goal handicap to conquer Detroit Red Wings, champions of the National Hockey League, 7-6, in a wild-scoring game.

With the score tied 31 seconds before the game ended, Wally Kilrea scored the winning goal for the Hornets.

BEAT WESTEND CLUB BY 18-0 CRUCIAL GAME

Technical Shunts Vic Back By Taking 11-5 Triumph

Separate gridders defeated Westmount 18-0 last night and in doing so clinched a place in the High School Junior Football League finals with Garneau. In a second game Technical shoved Victoria further behind the field as the Te[illegible] came [illegible] with an 11-5 triumph.

Separate made points through its line and earned them all, although several "kicks" about the refereeing were heard after the game. In the first quarter Separate got the initial score as Wilson dropped on the ball which was fumbled by Heffernan, who went through the middle of the line on a buck. O'Brien kicked the convert and after the major score Separate had little trouble in sailing through for a triumph.

PILE 'EM UP

In the middle of the second quarter O'Brien went through the middle of the line on a power buck to add another five points to Separate's total. Heffernan kicked the convert.

There was no scoring in the third canto, as Separate could not pierce Westmount's line.

In the 1st period Sep scored when Heffernan took a wide skirt through the right side of Westmount's line. The convert was made on a drop kick by O'Brien to bring Sep's total for the game to 18.

GOT ALL BREAKS

Over at Victoria, Technical got all the breaks that come to a cautious team that will wait for them. Victoria opened the scoring early in the first quarter when Technical fumbled a kick behind their own goalline, Bloomfield falling on the ball for Vic. The attempted convert was blocked by the Victoria line which broke through fast.

There was no scoring until well on in the second period. Technical was forced to kick but Buchanan fumbled the catch. Maday was down fast for the tackle and scooped the ball up on Vic's thirty-yard line to race across for a touch. Again the convert was blocked.

The third quarter was almost a repetition of the second as Technical scored on the after-effects of a kick. This time it was a deliberate play on Technical's part. Fox, who was onside at the moment the ball was wicked, fell on the ball for a touch. The convert was kicked by Skidmore.

Chi-Hawks Sign Trio U.S. Stars

[illegible], Oct. 29.—Three United States-born players will be added to the roster of Chicago Black Hawks this winter, Bill Stewart, the only American-born coach in the National Hockey League, announced Thursday.

Vic Heyliger of Concord, Mass., who played left wing and captained the University of Michigan team last season, is the only amateur who will be added to the club. The other rookies are Cully Dahlstrom of St. Paul Saints and Oscar Hansen of St. Louis Flyers, American Association stars.

ADAMS SHOUTS HIS PROTEST PENALTY SHOT

DETROIT, Oct. 29 — Manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings, Stanley cup champions, sent a telegram to President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League Thursday protesting, on behalf of the Detroit team, against the league's new penalty shot rule. Adams charged many "cheap" [illegible] will be gained on penalty shots this season.

"It's almost impossible to miss scoring on a penalty shot now," Adams said. [illegible] to lose a game on [illegible] on with good hockey."

Under the penalty rule, Detroit sharpshooters fired 16 shots at [illegible] today. Thirteen of them went for goals. The same players fired the same number of shots under the old rule and only three got by Smith.

Under the new ruling there is a line 30 feet in front of the goalkeeper. The player awarded the shot is allowed to rush up to the line and shoot. Under the former rule there was a penalty circle [illegible] feet from the nets and the shooter was forced to [illegible]

[illegible] ting but shoot penalty shots," Adams said. "Take a fellow like Newsy Lalonde, he'd never miss."

Bruins' Kid Line Is Real Threat

[illegible], Oct. 29.—[illegible] Hitchman, coaching Boston's bruising Bruins, along with Manager Art Ross, Thursday warned all National Hockey League teams to [illegible] out for his "baby line."

The new combination Hitchman thinks will shade all "kid lines" is made up of Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Porky Dumart, all given their first taste of big-time [illegible] late last season after short careers in the minors.

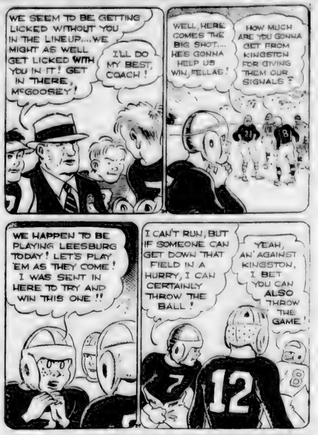
Freckles and His Friends —By Blosser



WE SEEM TO BE GETTING LICKED WITHOUT YOU IN THE LINEUP.... WE MIGHT AS WELL GET LICKED WITH YOU IN IT! GET IN THERE, McGOOSEY!
I'LL DO MY BEST, COACH!
WELL, HERE COMES THE BIG SHOT.... HE'S GONNA HELP US WIN, FELLAS!
HOW MUCH ARE YOU GONNA GET FROM KINGSTON FOR GIVING THEM OUR SIGNALS?
WE HAPPEN TO BE PLAYING LEESBURG TODAY! LET'S PLAY 'EM AS THEY COME! I WAS SENT IN HERE TO TRY AND WIN THIS ONE!!
I CAN'T RUN, BUT IF SOMEONE CAN GET DOWN THAT FIELD IN A HURRY, I CAN CERTAINLY THROW THE BALL!
YEAH, AN' AGAINST KINGSTON, I BET YOU CAN ALSO THROW THE GAME!

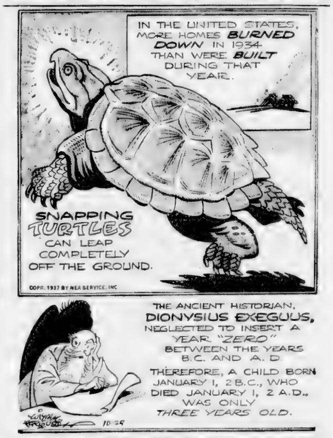
IT REALLY HAPPENED IN FOOTBALL!

DARKNESS cloaked the players of two southern prep school teams as they battled through the closing minutes of what seemed sure to be a scoreless tie. Finally one team desperately attempted a field goal from an almost impossible distance, and an absurd angle. Whether the ball had split the crossbars or gone wide the officials couldn't tell, as it sailed into the darkness. Only Dixon, safety man of the opposing team, could see whether the goal was good or not.

"Goal?" said Dixon. "I'll say so! I never saw a prettier one." And he rushed to congratulate the opponent whose kick had beaten him.

Curious World —By William Ferguson



IN THE UNITED STATES, MORE HOMES BURNED DOWN IN 1934 THAN WERE BUILT DURING THAT YEAR.
SNAPPING TURTLES CAN LEAP COMPLETELY OFF THE GROUND.
COPR. 1937 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.
THE ANCIENT HISTORIAN, DIONYSIUS EXEGUUS, NEGLECTED TO INSERT A YEAR "ZERO" BETWEEN THE YEARS B.C. AND A.D. THEREFORE, A CHILD BORN JANUARY 1, 2 B.C., WHO DIED JANUARY 1, 2 A.D., WAS ONLY THREE YEARS OLD.
WILLIAM FERGUSON 10-29

The snapping turtle [illegible] water animal, but [illegible] more at home on land [illegible]. It is a swift walker and can strike with [illegible].

NEXT: On what eggs are beautiful cameo-like carvings made?

Flapper Fanny —By Sylvia

"Well, Fanny, why don't you talk to Papa about your allowance?"

"Because there's nothin' [illegible] to talk about."

TODAY'S MARKETS

At Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 29—On moderate buying, stocks pushed higher again today on Toronto Exchange.

Nickel, Noranda, Hudson Bay and Smelters were up a point or more. Lake Shore, Dome and Hollinger finished narrowly higher.

Both Canadian Car stocks added about ¾, the Steel of Canada stocks firmed up and Dominion Bridge and Dominion Steel worked higher. Brazilian, C.P.R., Ford "A", Distillers-Seagrams, Walkers common, Massey-Harris common and Cockshutt Plow finished on the up side.

At Montreal

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Expanding demand sent stock market prices as much as a point higher in late dealings today.

Steel of Canada jumped 2½ points to 69 and Dominion Bridge 1½. Canada Cement, Foundation and Dominion Steel "B" were up fractions.

Brisk buying brought gains of more than a point each to Noranda at 49 and Smelters at 59. Nickel and Hollinger gained about ¾ each. Brazilian eased.

At New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The stock market's recovery bulged wider today although it encountered late selling opposition that cut down a morning upswing running to 7 or more points in leaders.

The ticker tape was frequently in arrears as leading issues pushed forward. Short covering was said to have been a factor in extension of the advance.

Gains eased off at the close. Transfers were around 2,800,000 shares.

SUPPORT LACK LOWERS WHEAT

WINNIPEG, Oct. 29.—Lack of support to offset southern selling and slightly increased hedging sent wheat futures tumbling two cents on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. At the end of the erratic session, values were 2¼-1⅞ cents lower, October at $1.22¼, November $1.20⅜-½, December $1.16½-⅜ and May $1.14½-⅝.

ROYAL CREST, COMMOIL PETE ARE BIG WELLS

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

CALGARY, Oct. 29—Turner Valley's two newest producers are definitely in the big well class. Commoil Pete, it now appears, will be in the 2,000 barrel class, and Royal Crest in the 1,000 barrel class, with the possibility that crude oil yield at both wells will be given a further boost when acidized.

Production at Commoil, most westerly of the producers, is still coming faster than the production string can handle it. Separator, tankage and line pump all have a maximum capacity of 1600 barrels per day, while the well appears capable of producing considerably more than that figure in 24 hours. An extra separator is now being hooked parallel to the other and a bigger pump will be installed on the Royalite plant line. There is at present tankage for 2,000 barrels at the lease and more tankage will be moved in. Production is still being taken through the casing, and tubing does not yet appear necessary. The flow appears to have fully settled. No plans for acidizing have yet been made.

Commoil plans immediate development of their second drill site south of the present well, and is also negotiating for additional acreage nearby.

Royal Crest is now producing steadily on the separator, and most of the water has been cleared from the formation. The flow appears to have settled at better than 1,000 barrels daily. The rich strike extends the crude area several hundred yards west of the Sterling Pacific producers, and enhances the possibilities of considerable acreage north and west of the older crude producers.

South End Pete, which commenced its existence as Imperial Highwood, has ended its career. The well, located two miles west of the Turner Valley crude area, is being abandoned. Casing is now being pulled. The well, bottomed at 5,285 feet, encountered repetition of the upper formations and it was felt that the producing limestone might not be reached except at an impossible depth.

RULES

1—This competition is open to everyone with the exception of Edmonton Bulletin employees and their families.

2—Each competitor must save the complete series of puzzle drawings (50 in all) and PRINT (not write) in the space provided for the answers. Each puzzle submitted must be an original clipped from The Edmonton Bulletin; tracings will not be accepted.

3—A contestant may only submit ONE SET OF ANSWERS. (A set consists of the puzzles numbered from 1 to 50).

4—The exact wording, punctuation, etc., of the "Trade Name" or "Slogan" used for an answer must be given as it appears in the official list or the answer will be judged incorrect.

5—The distribution of prizes will be made, based on retail value.

6—Competitors must strictly follow instructions.

7—The decision of the Contest Editor in judging answers, awarding prizes, shall be final. In case of ties, neatness will be considered. A set of answers neatly printed by hand will be given the same consideration as a set of answers which are typewritten. Answers which are specially bound or otherwise embellished will not be given any preference.

8—No correspondence can be undertaken regarding the puzzles or prizes and no information will be given over the telephone.

The voting will be held on Wednesday, November 10th, 1937, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. at the polling places appointed for the voting on the election of Mayor, Aldermen and School Trustees in accordance with the provisions of Bylaw No. 57, 1923, and amendments thereto, a list of which polling places will be published in this paper on Saturday, November 6th, 1937.

The result of the poll will be declared by me at the Council Chamber in the Civic Block at the hour of noon on Friday, November 12th next.

The Mayor, if requested, will attend at his office in the Civic Block during office hours at any time not later than noon on the last lawful day preceding the voting, to appoint agents to attend the polls on behalf of persons opposing or promoting the said questions.

An advance poll will be held in the Civic Block on Friday, November 5th, from 1 p.m. till 6 p.m. and on Saturday, November 6th, from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. for those whose business will take them out of the City for the whole time of polling on Wednesday, 10th November, 1937.

DATED at Edmonton, Alberta, this 20th day of October, 1937.

A. RUSSELL,
City Clerk and Returning Officer.

Notice To Creditors and Claimants

IN THE ESTATE OF EDWARD DUNN, late of the City of Edmonton in the Province of Alberta, Retired Carriage Maker, DECEASED.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that all persons having claims upon the Estate of the above named EDWARD DUNN, who died on the 7th day of July, 1937, are required to file with Messrs. Dyde & Becker, Barristers and Solicitors, 904 McLeod Building, Edmonton, Alberta, by the 27th day of November, A.D. 1937, a full statement duly verified of their claims and of any securities held by them, and that after that date the Executors will distribute the assets of the Deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which notice has been so filed or which have been brought to their knowledge.

Dated this 13th day of October, A.D. 1937.

W. J. NETHERCOTT,
By his Solicitors,
DYDE & BECKER,
904 McLeod Building,
Edmonton, Alberta.

Gleaned From Today's News

Pilots Ted Field and Len Waagen, United Air Transport, were reported en route to Edmonton Friday from Whitehorse, Y.T., and Fort St. John, B.C., respectively.

A meeting of the officers and executive of the East Edmonton Federal Liberal Association will be held in the club rooms, McLeod building tonight (Friday) at 8 o'clock.

Jury sittings of the Supreme Court, civil division, will open at the court house Tuesday morning with Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing presiding. Two damage actions are listed for hearing.

Southbound flight from Goldfields to Edmonton was being made Friday by Pilot Alex Dame, Mackenzie Air Service, who plans to return to the mining camp and possibly make another trip out.

Starting Sunday, November 7, patrons of the Macdonald hotel main dining room will be able to hear concert music played by Tom Gardner and his concert orchestra, Claude Finlay, hotel manager, announced Friday. The musical program will be presented every Sunday from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Pilot Gil McLaren, Mackenzie Air Service, returned to the city Thursday on a round trip to McMurray. Passengers from the north were Col. H. G. Reid, Hudson's Bay transport manager; A. M. Berry, manager of Northern Transportation Co., Ltd., Frank Reaume, C. D. Dredway, W. Gross, J. Daly, C. French.

In a collision between two cars at the intersection of 111 avenue and 124 street early Friday, a car driven by Malcolm McRitchie, 10930 125 street, was struck broadside and turned over on its side by a car which police say was driven by R. H. Cautley, 10402 127 street. McRitchie sustained a cut on his left arm. Cautley told police he was driving east and was blinded by the sun.

51,559 NAMES ON VOTE LIST

Final compilation of the 1937 civic voters' list brings the official number of electors eligible to vote in the November 10 elections to 51,559, the city assessor's department reported Friday. Revision of the list, which was completed a week ago, resulted in the addition of 122 new names.

Of the total number of electors, 11,412 are burgesses.

Second Judgment Is Given Against Walter R. Wells

This is decidedly an unlucky week for Walter R. Wells, Edmonton Butcher and Packers Supply agent. Yesterday in supreme court he unsuccessfully defended an action brought against him by George H. Saywell, and Friday morning judgment was given against him in district court by His Honor Judge Crawford.

Thursday Mr. Justice Ives gave judgment against Mr. Wells for $951 on a claim by Mr. Saywell that goods sold by Wells were not as represented. Friday morning he was unsuccessful in his plea that a meat chopper machine supplied him by Ryan Brothers, Winnipeg, was not as warranted. He was defendant in both actions.

Plaintiff's counsel in both actions was Neil D. Maclean, K.C., with E. W. S. Kane. Norman Blue was counsel for Mr. Wells.

Kitchener Strike Of 600 Is Ended

KITCHENER, Ont., Oct. 29.—Strike of the 600 Kaufman Rubber Company employees which started about five weeks ago, was settled last night, when the strikers agreed to return to work pending an investigation of wages by the Ontario department of labor.

CONSTRUCTION OF COTTAGES NOW UNDERWAY

Construction of four duplex cottages for occupancy by aged people now on city relief has been started on the block of land between 75 and 76 streets on 111 avenue, the contract being awarded to R. H. Rae at a price of $9,965 for the four cottages. The city is building the homes under the $68,000 municipal housing plan, and it is proposed that the cottage program be continued next year provided finances are available.

The Edmonton Lions Club is assisting in the project, the program being sponsored on city council by Ald. James H. Ogilvie, a member of the club. The organization will supply necessary furniture and will undertake landscape work, as well as co-operating in the administration of the scheme.

John Martland, city architect and building inspector, has designed the cottages, each of which will contain two separate homes. Each three-room dwelling will accommodate two persons. The block on which the cottages are being built has been subdivided to provide lots 62 feet wide, and each cottage will have plenty of garden space.

RESIGNATION OF CASSELMAN IS RECEIVED

Resignation of Fred C. Casselman from the Edmonton Public School board following his decision to sacrifice a year's service as school trustee to contest the November 10 civic elections as an aldermanic candidate, was received Friday by Returning Officer Alfred Russell, city clerk. Mr. Casselman's resignation was handed to H. G. Turner, secretary of the school board, who referred it to the returning officer.

This action creates a fifth vacancy on the school board, four other trustees automatically retiring this year after two years' service. The candidate successful in obtaining the fifth seat will serve only one year—the remainder of Mr. Casselman's term.

Edmonton Doctor Given High Honor

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Dr. Howard C. Naffziger of San Francisco today was elected president of the American College of Surgeons for 1938-39. Dr. Vernon C. David of Chicago was named first vice-president-elect, and Dr. Fraser B. Gurd of Montreal, second vice-president-elect.

Elected to the board of regents for terms expiring in 1940 were Drs. Alexander R. Munroe of Edmonton, and George Crile of Cleveland.

$14,000 Annually For Cancer Fight

TORONTO, Oct. 29.—An annual sum of $14,000 has been placed at the disposal of the newly-formed cancer control department of the Canadian Medical Association, Dr. A. Kelly, assistant secretary of the association, announced today.

The money, income from $500,000 collected for the King George V Memorial Cancer Fund, has been made available to the association on condition it organizes along lines for the control of cancer and for advancement of study of the disease by doctors, Dr. Kelly said.

Germany Hailing Duce Colony Stand

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—The German press today hailed the support of Premier Mussolini of Nazi claims to colonies as marking a gain in the reich's drive for return of the possessions she lost at the end of the great war.

Simultaneously the Deutsche Diplomatisch Politische Korrespondenz, semi-official mouthpiece of the foreign office, and newspapers generally took favorable notice of what they described as the changing attitude of the British press toward "respect" for German colonial arguments.

Considering Date Lethbridge Vote

Consideration is being given by the cabinet to the date of the Lethbridge by-election, to fill the seat left vacant by the resignation of Hans S. Wight, Social Credit member, who resigned to accept a post with a Calgary departmental store.

Premier William Aberhart on Friday stated that the subject was under cabinet consideration and an early decision is expected.

Hunter, Awaiting Signal, Is Drowned

PELEE ISLAND, Ont., Oct. 29.—Before a gun had been fired to open the two-day pheasant shoot on this Lake Erie island, Roy Cadwell, 35, of Preston, fell from a small fishing boat near a dock last night and was drowned in rough water. His body was found washed up on the sandy beach, a quarter-mile from the dock.
